Alert marines for rescue duty

On standby to evacuate U.S. civilians in South Vietnam; report Enterprise in area

TOKYO (UPI) — The Japanese newspaper Manichi said today two regiments of the U.S. Marine Corps' 3rd Division on Okinawa have been on alert since Jan. 6 as a possible rescue force for American civilians in South Vietnam.

Meanwhile, American civilian sources in Saigon reported that the U.S. aircraft carrier Enterprise was rendezvousing tonight with an 11-warship convoy in the Gulf of Thailand and that the 7th Fleet unit was expected to show the flag for a day or two before proceeding to the Indian Ocean.

Unconfirmed reports in Saigon said a South Vietnamese navy force protecting an oil rig in the South China Sea had spotted the Enterprise 120 miles off of the mouth of the Mekong early Wednesday New York time. North Vietnamese and Viet Cong reports also put the Enterprise in that gerneral area.

A Marine spokesman on Okinawa said: "There has been no change in the alert status of Okinawa's Marine units." He refused to comment further.

There are approximately 18,000 Marines stationed on the island.

U.S. military sources in Bangkok said extra stocks of bombs and ammunition now in Thailand were being shipped to Vietnam. The sources portrayed the movements as routine, calling them redistribution of war stocks.

In any case, they said, the United States during the past two years has fallen way behind in replacing stocks and arms and ammunition used by South Vietnamese forces, and there appeared there was no violation of the 1973 Paris peace accords by the Americans.

Manichi, quoting American military sources on Okinawa, said the Division's 9th and 4th Regiments have been on a "four-hour" alert since Monday.

The newspaper said the alert was ordered to "prepare for the rescue of Americans now stationed in South Vietnam if the war situation there got worse."

Okinawa police and taxi drivers said there were almost no Marines in the night spots around the bases on Wednesday night, although offbase activity picked up on Thursday.

Two Japanese language newspapers in Naha, Okinawa's capital, said the Marines were on "alert (stage) four." The Okinawa Times and Ruykyu Shimpo both said the Marines were on alert for possible redeployment to Vietnam.

Communist troops overran the provincial capital, the last government toehold in Phuoc Long province, on Tuesday. It was the first provincial capital to be captured by the Communists since the Vietnam ceasefire went into effect on Jan. 28, 1973.

The territorial gain also brought the Communist lines to within 35 miles of Saigon.

VICTIM RUSHED FROM BLAZING BUILDING

Mrs. Lucille Roy is rushed to a waiting ambulance after an explosion of unknown origin demolished an office-apartment complex Wednesday in North Bay, Ontario. At least seven perished in blast, fire.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A wino-killer has cut the throats of five Skid Row derelicts in a little more than a month. Police say he chose his victims well, preying on a subculture of men who have already given up on life.

The body of the fifth victim was found in a cheap hotel Wednesday, his throat cut from ear to ear.

Police spokesman Lt. Dan Cooke said the killings "are similar enough in nature to suspect they were committed by the same individual."

Since the first slaying Dec. 1, extra detectives have been assigned to the Central Homicide Bureau to help hunt the derelict-killer, Cooke said.

"We've checked every midnight mission, every wino, every drifter in the downtown area we could find," he said.

"The problem is that most of them couldn't care less," Cooke said. They don't want to help. They live in their own world and they feel they are not beholden to anyone."

"These derelicts are hard to trace. They don't make friends; they don't work anyplace and they don't live anyplace."

The victim found Wednesday was Casimir Strawinski, 58.

All the derelicts have been killed in a one square mile downtown area of flophouses, cheap hotels and missions that one detective called "an urban hobo jungle."

The four earlier victims apparently were asleep in doorways or alleyways.

Shooting case

Another $1,000 reward offered by taxi firm

Another $1,000 reward has been offered in the shooting Dec. 27 in Claremont of Roderick Carter Johnson, 32-year-old former Claremont Graduate School student who was paralyzed in the attack.

Johnson, working as a taxi driver that night, was shot in the back during a robbery attempt after he arrived at 680 W. San Jose Ave. to pick up a fare.

He is reported still in critical condition today in Pomona Valley Community Hospital's intensive care unit, where he has been since he was shot.

The new reward was put up by Gene Stalian, owner of the Yellow Cab Co. of Pomona for which the victim was working when he was shot. Earlier, Johnson's stepfather, Dr. Gordon L. Barclay of Albany, N.Y. offered a $1,000 reward.

Both were offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the young man who shot the victim and Claremont police said they would keep any informant's identity confidential.

However, investigators said there have been no new developments in the case.

Meanwhile, Barclay confirmed that his stepson is paralyzed, but said he suffered no brain damage. The psychologist said he flew from Albany after learning of the shooting and said he planned to remain in Claremont "until this clears up." He said he plans eventually to transfer Johnson to New York for rehabilitation.

Barclay said he hopes the reward will result in information reaching the police.

"These things don't happen in a vacuum," he said. "Someone knows who did it."

$800 million deal

U.S. sells Saudi Arabia jetfighters

AMMAN (UPI) — The United States has agreed to sell Saudi Arabia several squadrons of F5A and F5AF jetfighters worth $800 million, Riyadh Radio said today.

The radio said the sale contracts were signed by Saudi Arabian Defense Minister Prince Sultan Ben Abdel Aziz Jan. 4.

It was the second major weapons deal Saudi Arabia has concluded with a Western country in two months.

The Saudi Arabian government announced in December it had concluded an $800 million arms deal with France.

7 killed in apartment explosion, fire

NORTH BAY, Ont. (UPI) — An explosion, possibly caused by gas fumes, leveled a three-story brick building Wednesday, killing seven persons.

The blast reduced the office-apartment complex to smouldering rubble and injured 19 persons, including eight who were hospitalized.

Three other persons were missing.

"The building just about disintegrated," a fire department spokesman said. "Fire broke out almost immediately and within minutes had entirely engulfed the rubble."

A police spokesman said the ground level of the Barry Building office-apartment complex was "leveled in an instant."

The blast blew out windows from adjacent buildings and the nearby police station. A young girl about a block away was hit by a brick and hospitalized.

A six-man crew from the Northern and Central Gas Company was working at the rear of the building at the time of the explosion and police said "there was a definite smell of gas."

Firemen doused flames on the pile of burning rubble for two hours before they could begin the search for the missing. Spotlights were used in the search during the night.

Police said a few doctor and dentist offices were located in the building, hampering efforts to determine the number of persons inside at the time of the explosion.

Four of the victims were identified early today as a dentist who had an office in the building, Dr. Gary Julian; Lawuana Hallauer, 34, of North Bay and Sarah Murdock, 76, and Elizabeth Hall, 47, both of the nearby community of South River, Ont.

Low-middle income tax relief okay promised in 2 months

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The acting chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee said today his panel will approve within two months a multibillion dollar tax cut for low and middle income citizens.

Rep. Al Ullman, R-Ore., also said there would be some tax relief for corporations and that the size of the overall cut would depend on how much of the revenue loss could be made up by changing the tax structure.

"I will recommend that our committee go into immediate consideration of an emergency tax bill with relief for low and middle income groups," Ullman told newsmen after he met with freshmen Democratic House members.

"I hope we can get the bill to the House floor by March 1," added Ullman, who will be formally elected next week as chairman of the Ways and Means panel, succeeding Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark.

"There will also be some corporate tax relief in the bill, such as enlargement of the investment tax credit," Ullman said.

The present 7 per cent tax credit allows business to deduct from taxes owed that percentage of its investment in new equipment.

Ullman also said the measure would include a provision to eliminate the oil depletion allowance, which now provides oil producers a large deduction in their taxes.

If that controversial provision threatens to hold up the tax bill, Ullman said, it will be dropped and dealt with later in a separate bill.

"The important thing right now is to act quickly to get revenue into the economy," Ullman said.

He refused to say what size tax cut he would recommend, but he said it would range from "$5 billion to $30 billion, depending on how much of that revenue loss we can recoup through other tax changes such as ending the oil depletion allowance."

Closing that tax break would produce an estimated $2 billion in added revenue.

Variety of leukemia

1st virus link to human cancer found

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two National Cancer Institute scientists say they have found for the first time a virus associated with human cancer.

If confirmed by additional research, the discovery could lead to improved methods of treating the particular form of cancer involved —a variety of leukemia —as well as ways of testing people for it.

"They consider it a significant step," said an NCI spokesman. "It has important ramifications."

The virus particles were isolated by Drs. Robert C. Gallo and Robert E. Gallagher in cells of a 61-year-old woman stricken with acute myelogenous leukemia, a relatively rare form of blood malignancy that generally strikes adults.

The finding was not considered a breakthrough in cancer studies because the researchers still must attempt to isolate similar virus particles from other patients. That work is under way at the government research center.

"There's a lot of research that needs to be done," the spokesman said.

There have been claims in the past of the detection of cancer viruses in humans but subsequent work failed to confirm them. The NCI spokesman said Gallo and Gallagher took "extraordinary measures" to guard against possible contamination of their experiments by animal viruses, a common event in virological work.

It was pointed out that the association of a human virus with leukemia does not mean the disease is contagious.

Gallo and Gallagher initially reported their discovery at a meeting of the American Society of Hematology last month in Atlanta. They plan to publish the results of their work in the magazine "Science" this month.

Acute myelogenous leukemia afflicts about 4,000 Americans each year and few of its victims survive as long as a year after contracting it.

Park lot attendants will get $5 an hour

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco's parking attendants have reached tentative agreement on a two-year contract which may make them the highest paid auto parkers in the nation.

Under the pact, 800 members of the parking lot attendants union will earn $4.60 an hour in the first year and $5.06 an hour in the second year. Benefits include four weeks vacation after 20 years on the job, and dental and visual coverage in their medical insurance.

Parking lot owners said rates would go up 10 to 15 per cent to take into account the wage hikes.

5 servicemen killed in helicopter crash

WHALEYSVILLE, Md. (UPI) — A U.S Marine Corps helicopter clipped a farmhouse near here Wednesday and crashed into a horse shed, killing four Marines and one member of the Air Force.

The Pentagon identified three of the victims, all Marines, and said the names of the remaining two would be withheld pending notification of relatives.

Killed in the fiery crash were 1st Lt. Granville D. Pullen and 1st. Lt. Edwin J. Ruff Jr., both of Jacksonville, N.C., and Lance Cpl. John V. Cataldi of Claymont, Del.

West End's bus system will start Monday

A much discussed bus system for western San Bernardino County will take its first step Monday when the first route through Montclair is initiated.

City and county officials will meet at the county complex at Sixth Street and Mountain Avenue, Ontario, at 7:30 a.m. for a brief ceremony. Then they will ride the vehicle as it makes its inaugural trip to the Montclair Plaza.

The Mercedes-Benz 17-passenger bus is the first of 20 ordered by San Bernardino County to be placed in service. The bus system will be extended to other West End cities as the deliveries arrive.

County supervisors Monday approved a joint powers agreement with the West Valley Transit Service Authority to permit county buses to operate on fixed routes within the West End cities.

Officials then reported the county has received five of its buses, with five more expected later this month and the remainder during February.

Montclair officials have developed a 15-mile route that connects the Indian Hill Village with the City Hall complex, Montclair Plaza, Ontario county complex and the Ontario Plaza at Mountain Avenue and Fourth Street.

Bus stops will be spaced about one-fourth mile apart. The route will be traveled hourly, from 7:10 a.m. to 8:10 p.m.

Passengers will be charged 25 cents each to help defray some of the cost. City officials, however, plan to subsidize the system with funds received through Senate Bill 325.

Based on an operating cost of $2 per mile, officials expect the first year cost at $160,000 in Montclair.

The city will contract with the county for the bus system. The county will employ the bus drivers, maintain the busses and provide bus benches and covered stations.

Montclair will provide service seven days a week initially to determine the demand factor. "But we may decide later to drop the Sunday service if there is a low passenger count," said Loren Wasserman, city administrator.

Another feature will be the connection of the city system with a county route, he added. The major transfer station will be at the Montclair Plaza, with the county system extending from San Bernardino, to San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland and the Montclair shopping center.

It will also connect with Ontario-Upland bus system at the Ontario county complex, he added. This system is expected to begin within the next six weeks when more buses arrive.

Wasserman said he expects bus passengers to be primarily senior citizens,

Present proposals carry big price tag

Gasoline hike of 14 cents a gallon?

By RICHARD HUGHES
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Proposals under consideration by President Ford to tax imported oil and allow 60 per cent of all domestic oil to double in price could add 14 cents a gallon to the price of gasoline and fuel oil.

The increase in retail prices is based on oil industry statistics and is double estimates of earlier projections of the Ford administration's energy proposals.

The twin moves to levy an import tax and raise the price of domestic oil would add $9 billion a year to the revenues of oil companies and give the federal government $17.5 billion or more in additional income.

The government's revenue windfall would include $7.5 billion from a $3 per barrel import tax and $10 billion from a parallel $3 per barrel tax on domestic oil.

In addition, Congress would be expected to place a windfall tax on the $9 billion in higher oil company revenues, perhaps taking as much as 80 to 90 per cent.

This would leave the oil industry as a whole with about $1 billion in additional profits, presumbly to encourage more exploration for domestic energy supplies.

If the government, through a windfall profits tax, took $8 billion or so from the $9 billion in added oil company revenue, the total treasury gain would be in the neighborhood of $25 billion, the amount some administration officials have proposed as an income tax reduction to boost consumer spending.

President Ford reportedly is considering the $3 duty on imported oil, the $3 tax on all domestic oil and removing price controls from domestic oil in production before 1972.

The government now controls the price of pre-1972 oil, or "old oil," at $5.25 per barrel. Oil put into production after 1972, can be sold at the going market rate, now in the neighborhood of $12.50 per barrel.

The average of the two prices for domestic oil, under the double-pricing system, and for imported oil is $9.82 a barrel.

Removing the ceiling on old oil —60 per cent of the daily U.S. production of 8.7 million barrels —and adding a $3 import duty would make the average price $15.50 a barrel.

This would translate at the consumer level into increases of about 14 cents for each gallon of gasoline and fuel oil.

Brown picks Plymouth; Unruh, Fong, Younger choose Lincolns, Cadillac

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Three California constitutional officers have chosen limousines as their official state cars, declining to follow the more modest transportation lead of Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.

Driving in style will be:

—Republican Attorney General Evelle J. Younger, who bought two 1975 Lincoln Continentals at a total cost of $18,792.

— Democratic Treasurer Jesse Unruh, purchaser of a 1975 rust-colored Cadillac Fleetwood Broughman, which cost $10,323.

—Democratic Secretary of State March Fong Eu, who asked the state to buy for $5,250 the 1973 Cadillac she leased when she served in the Assembly.

But it also was learned Wednesday that Democratic Controller Ken Cory, who serves on the state Lands Commission, asked the state to lease for him a GMC fourwheel-drive Suburan at a yearly cost of $3,455.

An aide to Cory said the controller planned to use the vehicle on rugged terrain to examine areas involving Land Commission business.

On inauguration day, Brown abandoned a three car fleet of gubernatorial limousines used by Gov. Ronald Reagan. Aides said Brown would primarily use a 1974 Plymouth as his official vehicle.

Commenting on Brown's decision, Unruh said, "That's the governor's business and what I do is mine."

Unruh said the money for his car was contained in the budget for his office, adding, "That's the kind of car which always accompanied this office."

Younger had used a 1971 Lincoln in San Francisco and a 1972 Lincoln in Los Angeles, but each car had more than 95,000 miles of use, a spokesman for his office said.

An aide to Democratic Lt. Gov. Mervyn Dymally said no decision about a new car had been made. "We are definitely not going to use a big luxury car," he said.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson Riles will continue to use his 1971 Lincoln Continental, a spokesman said. "It gets 16 miles to the gallon," he added.

UC cancels its Chile program

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Concern over the arrest and disappearance of a Chilean physics professor prompted the University of California to suspend its faculty exchange program Wednesday with the University of Chile.

UCLA Assistant Chancellor Elwin V. Svenson said that the disappearance of Boris Chornik, a Chilean citizen who received a Ph.D in 1971 through the exchange program at UC Berkeley, led to the suspension of the nine-year-old program.

Chornik, head of the University of Chile's magnetic nuclear resonance laboratory, was allegedly picked up Dec. 15, by military intelligence agents in Santiago.

He is reportedly beind held in a Santiago detention camp— Tres Alamos—for interrogation regarding a friend who was arrested for allegedly having two machine guns in her possession.

Attempts by UCLA Chancellor Charles E. Young to discover the whereabouts of Chornik have failed.

Young, who heads the UC policy committee which supervises the exchange program, wired the University of Chile last Thursday demanding a reply by Monday. No reply was received.

Bus service . . .

"We have tried to develop a bus route that will touch every residential neighborhood within the city," he noted. "Except in a few places, residents will have to walk only several blocks to be at a bus stop."

The City Council adopted this route Monday night.

The bus initially leaves at 7:10 a.m. from the Indian Hill Village on Mills Avenue east of Holt Avenue. It then goes north on Mills to Kingsley Avenue, east to Vernon Avenue, north to Benito Street, west to the City Hall complex, north on Fremont Avenue to Palo Verde Street, west to Monte Vista Avenue and to the front entrance of the Montclair Plaza.

The bus then travels east on Moreno Street to Benson Avenue, south to Sixth Street and east to the county complex on Mountain Avenue. It proceeds south on Mountain Avenue to the Ontario Plaza at Fourth Street.

On the return trip, the bus goes west on Fourth Street to Benson Avenue, north to Palo Verde, west to Cenral Avenue, north to Moreno and a stop in front of Tiny Naylor's Restaurant in the North Montclair Plaza.

The bus proceeds west on Moreno to Mills Avenue, south to San Jose Street, east to Monte Vista, south to San Bernardino Street, west to Ramona Avenue, south to Benito, east to Monte Vista, south to Orchard Street, west to Mills then south to the Indian Hill Village.

The system has 46 bus stops presently designated. These will be identified by signs before the bus service starts on Monday, said Wasserman.

On the initial day of service, the bus will travel from the county complex to the Montclair Plaza and then loop back to Sixth and Mountain where it will follow the designated route back to the Indian Hill Village.

Those attending the ceremony will include County Supervisor Daniel Mikesell of Ontario, County Supervisor Robert Townsend of Chino, John Shone, county transportation director, Mayor Pro Tem Ernest Rowley of Montclair, other Montclair councilmen and Wasserman.

$1.7 MILLION STAMP

Michael Middleton, a partner in a Cincinnati stamp shop, is one happy collector. The latest bid for his pictureless stamp is $1.7 million. The faceless stamp is shown with two similar stamps it is believed to be—a four-pence English issue of 1887-1892. The stamp showed up in an album Middleton bought for $10 in Kentucky. He and his partners think they can make $5 million showing the stamp at exhibitions.

Bomber suspect nearly escapes from courthouse

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A Yugoslav immigrant, who police say is the "Alphabet Bomber" responsible for the deadliest civil airport bombing in U.S. history, almost escaped Wednesday during a sanity trial.

Muharem Kurbegovic hoisted himself into a hole he punched in the courthouse ceiling, but was captured by a deputy sheriff as he was about to drop into a corridor.

Kurbegovic, 31, is charged with setting off an explosion at Los Angeles International Airport Aug. 6 that killed three persons, wounded 35 and wrecked a large portion of the overseas departure terminal.

Two psychiatrists have testified at his sanity trial, which began Monday, that he is too mentally deranged to stand trial on the charges against him, which include three murder counts.

Deputy Sheriff Billy Wyate said he left Kurbegovic alone in a locked room off the courtroom. Kurbegovic apparently stood on a chair atop a table and battered a hole in the ceiling, and hoisted himself into the crawl space between the ceiling and the floor above.

Wyate shortly spotted Kurbegovid after hearing noises in the corridor only a few yards from near stairs and elevators.

"I saw Mr. Kurbegovic's legs dangling from the ceiling," the deputy said. "I pulled out my revolver and ordered him to jump down and lie on the floor and he did."

Kurbegovic had appeared for trial Wednesday carrying a sign reading "Nixon Bought Insane Asylum Patent From Russia." After the unsuccesful escape, he passed a note to his public defender —he has refused to say a word since his capture —reading: "I am not a sex offender and nobody has a right to send me to a sex offender hospital."

Psychiatrists have testified that Kurbegovic is convinced he is on trial for lewd conduct in a men's room. The prosecution maintains that Kurbegovic is feigning madness to escape the death penalty for the airport bombing.

Buyers overpay for eyeglasses, frames--panel

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Californians are being overcharged close to $11 million a year on purchases of eyeglasses and frames, a panel investigating the state's fair trade laws was told Wednesday.

Los Angeles City Attorney Burt Pines said that fair trade laws should be amended to permit price advertising.

The panel, convened at the request of state Attorney General Evelle J. Younger, was also told by opponents to the amendment that quality of services and materials would deteriorate rapidly if removed from the protection of health care services.

Dr. Gerald J. Easton, president of the California Optometric Association, said the low prices advertised by the retail eye wear merchant "do not allow him to provide quality."

Easton predicted a "virtual horror show" in an unregulated commercial market. Consumers, he said, would be easy prey for unscrupulous operators who might sell them defective glasses to the detriment of their eyesight.

But Pines challenged the current lack of competition in the industry claiming that Californians "are being overcharged between $5.5 million and $11 million" annually for eyewear.

Your income tax

By RAY DE CRANE

Thousands of workers who have been forced into retirement by a disabling illness are eligible for a tax windfall under a landmark decision of Internal Revenue Service.

The decision, a reversal of its former long-standing position by IRS, permits disabled retirees to claim as a sick pay exclusion up to $100 a week in the benefits they have been receiving.

Those receiving disability retirement benefits in excess of $5,200 a year may exclude $5,200 as sick pay on their 1974 tax return.

Furthermore, they will be permitted to revise their tax returns for 1971, 1972 and 1973 and claim exclusion of up to $5,200 in each of those years in which they received disability pay. This could result in substantial refunds from the earlier three years. The deadline for making the claim for refund on 1971 tax is April 15, 1975, three years after the deadline for filing the return.

In the past IRS took the position that if there was a provision for early retirement in the pension program, a sick pay exclusion could not be taken for any period after the early retirement date.

If the pension plan does not specify a mandatory retirement, IRS considers 65 to be that date.

Take the case of an employe forced to retire at age 58, after 35 years of service, because of a heart attack, emphysema, or some other crippling illness.

Until he is 65, he will now be able to exclude from income up to $5,200 a year, treating it as sick pay. At age 65 the retirement benefits will come under normal pension benefit rules.

If for the past three years, or any part of them, the same disabled retiree was receiving such benefits, he may now file amended returns for those years and receive a full refund of the taxes he paid on the sick pay.

In filing amended returns use Form 1040X. This is the suggested language to be used on the form in stating your reason for the refund claim:

"Taxpayer, a disabled employe, is entitled to sick pay exclusion under Section 105 (d) for his disability retirement payments, even though he is also eligible for regular retirement."

Thief holds 7 hostage, beats nurse to death

LEONIA, N.J. (UPI) — A middle-aged man, accompanied by a boy, forced his way into a suburban home, took seven persons hostage, ransacked the premises, then beat a young nurse to death before escaping.

The pair fled out the back door with an undetermined amount of cash and jewelry after one of the hostages freed herself and ran screaming for help. The other hostages, including a 90-year-old woman and a 3-year-old boy, were not harmed.

Police said the victim, Maria Fasching, 20, of Leonia, walked into the house while the robbery was underway.

Bergen County Prosecutor Joseph Woodcock said police were searching for a man about 45 years old, and a boy between 11 and 14 years old.

Woodcock said police believe Miss Fasching, who lived several blocks away and worked at Hackensack Hospital, died from a single stab wound. An autopsy was scheduled today to determine the exact cause of death.

Witnesses said the victim was grabbed, tied up, and taken to a basement where she was beaten to death.

me?" a witness quoted her as saying. Moments later she began screaming.

Officers in nearby Dumont, N.J., said they were investigating the possibility the suspects may have been involved in a similar robbery attempt last Monday involving an unidentified 39-year-old woman, who was not harmed.

Egypt fears Syria may drag her into war

LONDON (UPI) — Middle East sources said today Cairo fears that militant Syria could drag Egypt into a new Arab-Israeli war that she neither wants nor is militarily prepared for because of the Soviet refusal to rearm her.

They said this is the message behind President Anwar Sadat's complaint that Moscow has not re-equipped Egypt with sophisticated weapons since the 1973 October war while Syrian losses have been made up fully by the Soviets.

Western defense experts hold Syria now is so well equipped with modern Soviet weapons that she could be tempted to start a war.

They said Syria might be able to fight Israel on her own for some time but Egypt would have no alternative than to join her once the situation became critical.

Sadat aired his complaint in an interview with a Beirut newspaper. Middle East experts said it must be seen in the context of strained Egyptian-Soviet relations following the cancelation of Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev's visit to Cairo.

Syria, according to qualified informants, has received far more military equipment from Moscow than she lost in the October war with Israel, including new ground-to-ground medium-range missiles, antitank rockets and MIG23 supersonic jets.

Several thousand Soviet advisers were said to be assisting the Syrians. The Syrians, moreover, are trying to extend their defense strategy by arrangements with Lebanon, having assured the Lebanese government they will help them in any emergency.

What worries Egypt is the possibility that Syria, impatient with the lack of any forseeable significant development toward regaining the Israeli-occupied Golan Heights, may revert to military action.

Downtown furniture store robbed by 2 men

The owner of a discount furniture store in downtown Pomona was robbed in his shop Wednesday afternoon, police reported.

Rogelio Rousset, 51, Diamond Bar, said he was approached in the store at 301 S. Garey Ave. by two young men, one of whom put on a ski mask and threatened him with a .38-caliber revolver.

After taking money from the cash box, the robbers forced Rousset into a closet before they fled.

The armed man was described as a Negro in his early 20s, 5 feet 9 weighing 150 pounds. He had a goatee and wore a dark leather ¾-length coat, dark trousers and a blue-and-white ski mask.

Also in Pomona, the Union 76 service station at 1500 Gillette Road, was robbed by two young men, one or whom also wore a ski mask and had a single-barrel sawed-off shotgun, early Wednesday.

Attendant Len E. Harvey, 41, said the pair forced him to lie on the floor and took his wallet from his pocket. When he moved, he was hit on the head, he said. Harvey suffered a cut scalp but did not require immediate medical attention.

The armed man was described as a Negro about 20 years old, 6 feet 2 and slim, wearing dark clothing.

Later Wednesday morning, Florence Thomas, La Verne, discovered a large display window broken when she arrived for work at Bryant & Co. Jewelers at 215 Pomona Mall East. An undetermined number of earrings and pendants were missing, police said.

In Montclair a 29-year-old Bell Gardens man was arrested after allegedly grabbing a half-pint of whiskey and some salami from a liquor store and leading police on a high speed car chase into Claremont Wednesday morning.

The chase ended with arrest of Lee A. Hart who was booked in West End Jail on suspicion of petty theft and reckless driving.

Police said the suspect entered the Ace Liquor Store at 4702 Holt Blvd. about 10:40 a.m., walked around and finally grabbed the bottle of whiskey and some salami. The suspect fled without paying for the goods. The store clerk managed to get a description of his vehicle and called it in to police.

Ontario police said they booked a 19-year-old man on suspicion of grand theft after he allegedly stole $2,500 in cash and several checks from the Isaac Cohen and Son store at 717 S. Taylor St. about 4 p.m.

The suspect, Randy Morrow of 604 E. Arrow Highway, Upland, according to police, was arrested after he returned most of the cash and a stereo system he bought with the rest of the money to the owners of the business.

Harry B. Cohen co-owner of the business, said he later contacted the suspect and received a promise that the money would be returned. When the money was returned by Morrow, police said, he was arrested. Police said the case is still under investigation.

Challenge issued in election dispute

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrat John A. Durkin today challenged Senator-elect Louis C. Wyman to "stand aside" with him from any claim to New Hampshire's hotly contested Senate seat until the Senate has resolved a dispute over who won the Nov. 5 election.

Durkin issued his challenge in testimony before the Senate elections subcommittee which opened hearings on the disputed election in which Wyman won, then lost, then won again by two votes. The new Congress convenes Tuesday.

Klassen to quit as Postmaster

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Elmer Theodore Klassen may be the most controversial postmaster general since Benjamin Franklin.

Klassen, 66, a big, usually affable man who can bluster and is quick to anger, announced Wednesday that he is quitting Feb. 15. He has been under congressional fire for Postal Service shortcomings and a conflict of interest charge.

Klassen has not answered the charges, but said he was responsible for more improvements than problems.

Reunion spoiled for Japanese soldier

31-YEAR SEPARATION

Lee Kuang-huei, a former Japanese army private who spent 31 years alone in the jungles of Indonesia, talks with his two elderly sisters on his arrival on Taiwan today.

TAITUNG, Taiwan (UPI) — The reunion of an old Japanese Army soldier with his family turned bitter today when he slowly realized his wife had remarried in his 30-year absence.

Lee Kuang-huei, a former army private who spent 31 years alone in the jungles of Indonesia, returned to his mountain home today from Taipei.

As he traveled with his wife and son aboard a mini-bus enroute to the mountain village of Taitung, his wife explained again that she remarried eight years after he was listed missing in World War II.

Lee spoke curtly and abruptly to his wife, tore his hand away from hers and asked to be driven to the house of his sister.

It was the 55-year-old soldier's first real emotional outburst since he was discovered by an Indonesian air force search team in December on the island of Morotai.

Until today, Lee has said little and displayed almost no emotion. He has had difficulty recognizing old friends, and even his wife, Lee Lan-ying.

Lee's son, Lee Hung, said today that his father "still has not talked very much with my mother." He said he did not think his father recognized his mother fully until they sat down to dinner Wednesday.

"I think he is yet to recover after such a long separation," the younger Lee said.

RICHARD TUCKER

Opera star Tucker dies of heart attack

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (UPI) — Richard Tucker, whose golden tenor rang in the world's opera houses and concert halls for 30 years, died of a heart attack Wednesday just hours before a scheduled appearance in Kalamazoo. He was 60.

The New York Metropolitan Opera star had been scheduled to appear with baritone Robert Merrill in a concert recital sponsored by Western Michigan University.

Merrill said he was awakened from a nap about 3:15 p.m. by a motel employe, who told him Tucker had been stricken in the room next door.

A motel lifeguard's effort to revive Tucker failed and he was taken to Bronson Hospital. When Merrill arrived at the hospital, a doctor told him Tucker was dead.

"I was shocked," Merrill said. "He was so robust. We were getting ready for a party to celebrate our 30th anniversary singing together. He was the greatest tenor in the world."

Tucker planned to celebrate the 30th anniversary of his Metropolitan debut on Jan. 25. No other current star at the Met had been with the company that long.

Tucker, born in New York to poor Jewish immigrant parents from Russia, became a cantor and while holding that position at a Brooklyn synagogue was persuaded to turn his talents to opera.

Criticism often clue to your job security

NEW YORK (UPI) — If your boss suddenly becomes too critical, or if he stops criticizing you altogether —watch out! Either may mean the axe is ready to drop says personnel expert Robert Half.

"If the boss is too critical, he may be looking for an excuse to fire you," Half said. "If he suddenly stops finding fault with you it may be because he has decided you won't be around much longer, so why bother."

Half said everybody's chances of being fired probably are higher right now than they have been in years and he urged workers to take notice of indications the sack may be yawing for them. Chances are you can do something to stay the axe if you really want to.

If a subordinate gets a promotion while you stay put, that could be a danger signal, Half said. Others he suggested:

—There's an across-the-board pay cut in the company but yours is more than the average.

—The company is bought by a bigger firm. There will be a tendency to cut jobs and preference probably will be for people in the acquiring company.

—A consultant comes around, saying he's studying your job. He could be gathering information for your replacement. He also could just be looking for ways to streamline the job.

—Your work load suddenly diminishes.

—You find yourself not being cut in on interoffice memos.

—You're suddenly asked to take a psychological aptitude test.

—The boss no longer has a friendly morning hello for you or pointedly ignores you when you meet in the hall or elevator. You've become an embarrassment to him.

Any one of these signs could be a false alarm, Half said, but if several turn up you could be skating on thin ice.

Of course, there are steps you can take that could change the boss's mind even if he is thinking of firing you. Half suggests:

—Forget the old Army adage about never volunteering. Offer to take on extra assignments.

—Do your job so well and be so reliable the boss knows it would be difficult to replace you.

—Guard against being a time thief. Half said workers who don't really give a day's work for a day's pay are stealing $60 billion a year from American business and all bosses know this and resent it.

—Avoid office cliques. A boss may regard such groups as a personal challenge to him and, especially in big companies, the whole bunch may be fired. Loners often are appreciated by employers.

—Don't publicize your gripes and pet peeves. Show company loyalty.

—Be neat in your appearance.

—Don't be a postage or pencil pilferer or make long distance personal telephone calls.

—Keep personal phone calls at the office to an absolute minimum. Keep your private life private. Don't spread your personal affairs —or those of others —all over the office.

Wanting to keep your job, and making a visible effort to do so could pay off.

If all the signs are against it, start actively looking for another job, Half advises. But, he warns, "make sure your job search is kept confidential or you could end up furnishing the fuel for your own firing.

Kissinger, Israeli diplomat to huddle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon will meet with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and other American officials next week, a State Department spokesman said.

The spokesman said Kissinger made preparations for Allon's visit when he met with Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz over the weekend.

Trick in hand for the birds

By Oswald & James Jacoby

A bird in the hand is known to be worth two in the bush, but a trick in the hand is not always worth even one.

West's queen of diamonds held the first trick and he continued the suit. South ruffed, cashed his ace of spades, led a spade to dummy's king, played a low club and finessed his queen.

	NORTH ♠ K 3 ♥ J 10 7 ♦ K 7 2 ♣ J 9 7 4 3
WEST ♠ 8 6 5 ♥ 6 5 2 ♦ Q J 10 5 ♣ K 10 2		EAST ♠ 7 2 ♥ K Q 9 4 ♦ A 9 8 6 3 ♣ 8 5
	SOUTH ♠ A Q J 10 9 4 ♥ A 8 3 ♦ 4 ♣ A Q 6

Neither vulnerable

West	North	East	South
			1 ♠
Pass	1 N.T.	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—Q ♦

West couldn't wait to pounce on that trick with his king. After all, a bird in the hand, etc. He pounced and that was his side's last trick.

"Wouldn't I have looked silly if South had started with ace-queen doubleton in clubs instead of ace-queen-small?" said West.

He sure would have looked silly, but if South had been dealt just two clubs he probably would have led out the ace and then the queen before using dummy's king of spades. Furthermore, East had played the eight of clubs and South could have been sure that eight was either a singleton (in which case no defense would work), or that East was starting a high-low echo and that king of clubs trick would never get away.

SBA offering Valley businessmen advice

Small businessmen desiring free counseling or other assistance may contact the Small Business Administration office at 849 S. Broadway, Los Angeles.

The SBA offers free services and benefits that have increased the prosperity of many small businessmen since it became a department of government in 1954.

To qualify as a small business, a retail or service type business must have sales or annual receipts of $5 million or less.

Wholesale businesses with annual sales from $5 to $15 million, and manufacturers employing from 250 to 1,500 employes also qualify for SBA help.

In addition to free counseling, SBA has a variety of loan programs, advice on buying and selling to the government, help with overseas marketing, technical advisory assistance, advice and assistance on obtaining contracts and subcontracts and business seminars, workshops and clinics.

Retired businessmen are offered an opportunity to become involved as advisers and counselors by joining the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE).

Marian Flowers, instructor, will teach parents and those who work with the mentally handicapped how to diagnose developmental disabilities.

For more information, the public may call the Upland Recreation Department at 982-1352, ext. 55 or 56.

Saw invasion coming

State Dept. document shows Rhee a prophet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two years before the outbreak of the Korean War the late South Korean President Syngman Rhee pleaded with President Harry S. Truman not to withdraw U.S. military forces, according to documents just released by the State Department.

Rhee made his appeal to Truman on Nov. 19, 1948, fearing that the recent Communist victory in China would lead eventually to a Communist invasion of his country.

Upon advice of State Department officials, Truman ignored Rhee's pleas and shortly thereafter withdrew the American forces that had stormed onto the Korean Peninsula Sept. 8, 1945 to rout Japanese forces there in the closing days of World War II.

The withdrawal and the resulting military vacuum in South Korea proved costly. Rhee proved prophetic. On June 25, 1950 some 60,000 Communist North Korean troops, spearheaded by more than 100 Russian built tanks, invaded the Republic of Korea.

On June 27, 1950 Truman ordered General of the Army Douglas MacArthur to aid South Korean forces. The President was responding to a United Nations appeal, made that same day, for members to enforce its demand that hostilities halt and Communist forces withdraw north of the 38th parallel.

Truman termed the U.S. intervention a "police action." It turned into a three year war in which nearly 54,000 American servicemen died. A quarter of a century later some 40,000 U.S. troops are still stationed there.

Other documents published by the State Department in the 1,379 page "Foreign Relations of the United States, Volume Six, The Far East and Australasia," show Truman sent U.S. troops back as much to prevent Japan's resurging industrial power from coming under Communist influence as to defend the fledgling Republic of Korea.

In his message to Truman, Rhee said, "In the light of the recent development in China, I should like to remind your excellency that the Korean people are deeply concerned over the reported withdrawal of the American troops from Korea soon.

"The Communist successes in China have released large forces of the Communist Army for potential invasion of South Korea."

Rhee told Truman his nation's defense forces could not withstand a massive external attack and were preoccupied with purging their ranks of Communist sympathizers.

"It is imperative that until the complete loyalty of all the defense forces is assured and until the defense forces are capable in dealing with any threat from without or within the country, the United States maintain an occupation force for the time being and establish a military and naval mission as a deterrent to aggression and consequent civil war," Rhee told Truman.

But State Department officials gave Truman advice that must sound familiar to other Asian and American presidents following yet another Asian war, Vietnam.

"I pointed out (to Rhee) that the increasing effectiveness of the Korean security forces makes possible certain reshuffling of American forces in this area," John J. Muccio, Truman's special representative in Seoul, said in a message accompanying Rhee's to Truman.

"I assured Rhee the United States had no intention to abandon Korea and expressed confidence that both the United Nations and the United States appreciated the need for sufficient time to train Korean security forces."

Muccio added: "I dare not go beyond such generalizations lest Rhee, in one of his emotional moments, blurt forth that I said we are not withdrawing, thus playing into the hands of Pyongyang and Moscow."

Health care for needy stressed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger says the government will do "whatever is necessary" to continue subsidized heath care for the poor and elderly whose doctors lose their malpractice insurance.

Weinberger said HEW will try to get the government to permit insurance companies to pool resources to insure physicians for malpractice if that is the only way to protect doctors who serve high risk patients.

"We have a responsibility to see that no situtation persists which seriously threatens the ability of these persons to obtain health care."

RIGHT TO LIFE CHIEF — John Stanley of Pomona has been elected treasurer of the Right to Life League of Southern California.

Mrs. Joseph J. Dysart of Van Nuys was selected president of the nonpolitical, anti-abortion organization, now in its fifth year.

Stanley was instrumental in forming the Pomona Valley-West End Right to Life League, a chapter of the Southern California organization.

PUPPY LOVE—BY THE DOZEN

Kelly Fitzgerald, 13, 451 Pembrooke Ave., Pomona, is the owner of this German Shepherd, Penny, who delivered 13 puppies Dec. 30. One died, but 12 are fat and healthy, said Kelly, now busy seeking good homes for the pups. Penny and her litter are comfortable on a blanket in a playroom closet in the Fitzgerald home. Penny's milk is supplemented by bottles of formula made from powdered milk. Kelly oversees the feedings. Anyone interested in taking a puppy a little later on may call Kelly at 627-4075 and arrange a pick-up date. So far, she said, she has been able to pick names for only four.

Planners waive impact report

Way cleared for group to seek restoration aid for 2 mansions

The Pomona Valley Historical Society can now apply for federal funds to help restore the Phillips Mansion and the La Casa Primera de Rancho San Jose.

Before such an application could be made, the society needed exemptions from environmental impact reports. These were granted Wednesday night by the Pomona Planning Commission.

The society seeks $25,000 for interior and exterior restoration work to repair damage done by vandals at the Phillips Mansion and an additional $15,000 to purchase a one-third acre adjoining parcel to provide better vehicle access and as a buffer from nearby industrial plants.

The group will also request $25,000 for interior restoration work at La Casa Primera de Rancho San Jose and to construct a wall or fence to provide better security for the adobe and grounds.

Deadline for filing both applications is Jan. 15, said officials.

The Phillips Mansion, built in 1875, is located at 2640 W. Pomona Blvd. The La Casa Primera de Rancho San Jose, located at Park and McKinley avenues, is reported to be the oldest home built in the valley. It was constructed in 1837 by Don Ygnacio de Palomares, cograntee of the 15,000-acre Rancho de San Jose.

Apartment housing for senior citizens is under construction

Work has begun on a 110-unit Pomona apartment complex for senior citizens. The project is valued at $1.2 million.

The complex, named Pomona Gardens, is located on five acres of 260 W. Drake St. It will include three two-story residential dwellings plus a separate one-story recreation structure.

Urbatec, the builder and developer, plans to lease the one-bedroom apartments to the Los Angeles County Housing Authority, which will rent these to qualified senior citizens for 25 per cent of their monthly income.

Each apartment will contain 550 square feet of living area. These will include a bedroom, living room, bathroom, walk-in closet and kitchen. The complex will have a "noise bell" system where tenants can push a switch and alert the manager in his office.

Urbatec officials said crews have begun clearing the site. Completion is expected within eight months.

Screening of resident applicants will be done by the Valley Association of Cities (VAC) under a contract with the county, said Joe Korpsak, executive director. "We have already received 30 applications, with 15 qualified," he added.

To qualify, a person must be 63 and older, have a minimum monthly income of $325 and be a Pomona resident.

With a $325 monthly income, a tenant would be charged $65 a month, he explained. Should a tenant's income increase, so would the rent.

Officials said the complex will be constructed, financed and owned by private enterprise and will remain on the property tax rolls during the 20-year lease with the county housing authority.

Lot size ordinance faces referendum vote April 1

Walnut City Council Wednesday scheduled a referendum election for April 1 on a controversial density change involving two housing tracts.

The action was taken due to the receipt of a referendum petition during December by the city, which contained more than 300 signatures of residents opposed to increasing the density of two developments on north La Puente Road.

At issue is a previous council action that reduced lot size in the developments from 15,000 to 8,500 square feet per lot.

The election will either uphold that decision or reverse it.

The two developments are owned by the La Solana Corp. and would include some 124 homes.

At a council meeting last month, officials of the company charged that the referendum petitions had been signed by many persons because of misrepresentation on the part of those circulating the petitions.

The petitions were ruled valid, however, forcing the council to set the election or overturn its previous decision on the matter.

In other action at the meeting, the council approved an expenditure of up to $50,000 for the construction of a swimming pool at Walnut High School.

The joint city, county and school district project is expected to cost some $250,000 to $300,000.

The council also approved an agreement with the county concerning application for Housing and Community Development funds from the federal government. No specific amount to which the city might be entitled was disclosed, however.

Valley briefs

Community session on improving city

A community workshop to discuss a design concept for Pomona will be conducted Friday night at 346 Pomona Mall East.

The session is part of the city's updating of its general plan. Hal Baxter, associated with Lawrence Halprin and Associates, an urban design firm, will conduct the meeting.

Some concepts to be presented resulted from a series of community workshops held last year.

These will include city entrances; housing; design concept for the Pomona Mall; strip commercial areas; industrial areas; and appearance of freeways.

The program starts at 7 p.m. Those attending are asked to contact the city planning department.

Theater box office fire ruled as arson

Pomona fire department investigators have termed the $2,500 fire which gutted the ticket booth at the Fox Theater Tuesday night as "definitely an arson case."

Inspector Tom Fee said that someone had broken into the booth and set the fire as a cover-up.

Fee said that theater officials recovered money from a booth safe after the fire. The investigation is being continued.

Vandals damage Speidel Building

Vandals caused an undetermined amount of damage to ceilings, carpeting and furniture on the first and second floors of the Speidel Building, 300 S. Park Ave., Pomona, Wednesday by turning on the water in a fire protection hose rack.

Pomona firemen spent about three hours in removing water from the damaged areas.

The hose, left in the wall rack, burst, and flooded the area with water.

The vandalism is being investigated.

Fete park employes

Service pins will be awarded to employes with 5, 10 and 15 years of service with the Pomona Parks and Recreation Department tonight at the 7:30 meeting of the Parks and Recreation Commission.

The meeting will be in the Pomona council chambers.

White Ave. project to begin --after four years of delays

Resurfacing of the northern part of White Avenue, which has been put off for the past four years because of a possible realignment, will begin in the spring.

The La Verne City Council this week asked Los Angeles County to release $65,000 in "aid to cities" funds to finance the work between College Lane and Foothill Boulevard.

The project calls for resurfacing of White Avenue and the reconstruction of curbs and gutters.

A second project, calling for the improvement of White Avenue from College Lane south to Sixth Street, is being drawn up and may be ready in time to join the first, according to Clayton Cabrinha, superintendent of streets.

Plans also call for resurfacing White Avenue south to First Street, but that portion of the work is not expected to begin until next year.

The 1,400-foot section of White Avenue north of College Lane has become dangerous to traffic because of the number of pot holes and ruts in the streets caused by inclement weather and use, Cabrinha explained.

The improvements were originally scheduled four years ago but were postponed when the city learned that the county wanted to realign White Avenue to join with Fruit Street at Foothill Boulevard. Fruit Street is a designated off-ramp of the proposed Foothill Freeway.

Under that proposal the city was to acquire the right-of-way and the county was to pay for the realignment. But the city was unable to obtain the roadway through dedication, and did not have money to buy it. Therefore, the realignment project has been abandoned, at least for the foreseeable future, City Manager George Caswell said.

The resolution okaying the project was approved by the council this week as part of its agenda.

The council also:

—Amended the city's general plan to permit the Lutheran High School to build new facilities along Fruit Street north of Foothill Boulevard. The parcel has been inadvertently zoned residential instead of institutional.

—Introduced an ordinance to renumber the city codes for better reference.

Adjourned in memory of Isador Romo, retired city street sweeper, who died last week. Romo had swept the streets for more than 14 years.

Lynch continues in renewal post

City Councilman Ed Lynch has been re-elected chairman of the Chino Redevelopment Agency and Mayor Bob McLeod will serve again as vice chairman for 1975.

The City Council sits as the redevelopment agency, and elects officers from its members.

In other action, the council approved three new projects within the redevelopment area, including a Taco Bell Restaurant and a 2,450 square-foot commercial building at the northwest corner of Central and Columbus avenues.

Remodeling of an existing single family residence for commercial purposes on property located on the north side of Walnut Avenue, between Central Avenue and 10th Street, was also approved.

Sen. Ayala

Asks federal job funds for valley

State Sen. Ruben Ayala, D-32nd Dist., will meet today with California's new secretary of health and welfare to seek a share of the $15 million in federal funds given the state to provide 1,500 public service jobs.

Ayala, whose district includes eastern Los Angeles County areas and western San Bernardino County, said he held a brief conference Wednesday with Mario Olebedo and they set a second session for today.

The unemployment rate is about nine per cent for San Bernardino County and 8.4 per cent for Los Angeles County, said the senator.

"If federal funds are going to the high unemployment areas then we should be one of the first to receive the money," he said.

Because of the district's high jobless rate, Ayala said a model program could be designed here to serve as an example for the rest of the state.

Under federal provisions, at least one-third of the 1,500 positions must be filled by Jan. 30, he said.

"More recent federal legislation may give the state $100 million for the remainder of 1975," said Ayala. "This would provide up to 12,500 additional jobs."

Pomona College grad will receive award

Dr. Howard S. Swan, a 1928 graduate of Pomona College, will be honored Friday by Hollywood High School with its Alumni Achievement Award.

Swan graduated from the high school in 1923. He is currently a lecturer in music and coordinator of graduate studies in music at Cal State Fullerton.

He received his doctorate in Music at Claremont Graduate School in 1959. During his career he taught at Occidental College from 1934 to 1971, where he received a Ford Foundation Fellowship in 1963 and directed the college's Glee Club.

He is the author of "Music in the Southwest" and a number of articles in scholarly journals.

He is a resident of Newport Beach.

Police arrest youth after mishap, school confrontation

A teen-age youth was arrested by Pomona police early Wednesday afternoon after he was involved in a hit-run accident and a confrontation which they said almost touched off a fight at Garey High School.

The youth, a 16-year-old Pomona boy, was booked on charges of hit-run driving and disturbing the peace. He was not a student at the school, officers reported. They gave this account:

Shortly after noon, the youth drove on the wrong side of Lexington Avenue, forcing another car into a post. Then he went to the school where he got into an argument with students which eventually drew a crowd estimated at 300 boys and girls.

Police Resource Officer D. G. Cole, not knowing about the traffic accident the youth had been in, sent him and a companion away, but arrested him a few minutes later when he returned.

Police reported later that the youth, whose name was not revealed because of his age, had a shotgun in the trunk of his car. They said they also found a loaded pistol which had been tossed into a field nearby.

The youth was released to his mother Wednesday afternoon pending action by juvenile authorities.

Replacement for McVittie

City hires attorney on 3-2 vote

Assemblyman William McVittie's law partner, Jimmy L. Gutierrez, has been named Chino city attorney by the City Council in a split vote.

Councilmen voted 3-2 Tuesday night to appoint Gutierrez, 28, to the position left vacant when McVittie resigned last month to become, as he said, "a full-time legislator."

A roll call vote was taken, after a closed personnel session, and Councilmen Angel Martinez, Leonard Frketich and Ed Lynch voted to name Gutierrez. Mayor Bob McLeod and Councilwoman Eileen Carter cast dissenting votes.

Immediately after the vote, Chino school board member Al McCombs suggested there might be a conflict of interest regarding the appointment.

McCombs indicated he had received inquiries of a possible conflict involving Frketich, Lynch and McVittie.

He asked Lynch if there was any truth to a report that McVittie helped VTN Engineering Co., where Lynch is employed, to secure contracts. Lynch categorically denied it.

McCombs said he'd made no attempt to substantiate the report, but was interested in knowing if there was any truth in it.

Again indicating a conflict, he asked Frketich whether he had been active in McVittie's campaign for the 65th Assembly district seat. Frketich denied that he had been active, but said he had attended some of McVittie's campaign social functions.

None of the councilmen explained their vote at the meeting, but McLeod and Mrs. Carter said later they were voting on the basis of job qualifications.

Two other law firms applied for the post: Mahoney, Demchuk and Brandt of Upland and Chino, and George Logan and Associates of Stanton.

Eugene Demchuk, partner in one of the firms, served as interim city attorney while McVittie was campaigning for the Assembly seat.

There had been controversy over McVittie's job status in October, when he and his Assembly campaign coordinator were charged with assisting in illegal payments to deputy registrars. Councilmen discussed his status in closed session, but left the issue unresolved. Later, he was granted a leave of absence.

Gutierrez, a lifelong Chino resident, is a member of the firm of McVittie, Gutierrez and Bidart.

He served as Chino's deputy city attorney for six months under McVittie. Gutierrez is a 1965 graduate of Chino High School, and holds a bachelor's degree from Pomona College and a law degree from UCLA.

The position of city attorney pays $600 per month, plus an hourly fee for time spent in court.

Competition sets prices on food

An interesting if not altogether enlightening colloquy between members of the House-Senate Joint Economic Committee and a spokesman for the supermarket industry took place in Washington in the waning days of the 93rd Congress.

Spearheading the committee's investigation into the cost of food, Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., cited the frequency of identical prices in different supermarkets and suggested that the chains arrange among themselves to avoid head-on competition.

He was "astonished," said Humphrey, to learn that a check of A&P and Safeway stores in Kansas City last October showed identical prices on 2,969 out of 3,995 items. The two chains are respectively first and second in size and sales in the United States.

William S. Mitchell, president of Safeway, countered that identical prices are actually proof that competition exists in the industry. When one store drops a price, others follow, he said. Thus identical prices mean they are competing, not colluding.

"We check each other's prices," said Mitchell, "and nobody in this business is going to be undersold."

Moreover, he added, the chains buy at the same prices from food producers and have similiar costs.

At the same time that the committee was receiving a lesson in basic business economics, however, the nation was being given a different illustration of how the free enterprise system works.

Defending his company's recent average 8 per cent price increase, which it rolled back slightly under pressure from the Ford administration, U.S. Steel chairman Edgar B. Speer explained that about three-fourths of the new prices represented a "catch-up" of U.S. Steel vs. prices with those being charged by its major competitors.

On the face of it then, U.S. Steel was voluntarily relinquishing the advantage it presumably held over its competitors by virtue of having prices lower than theirs.

Not only is this hard to understand, but just whom the nation's No. 1 steelmaker was catching up with is not clear. At least two other companies, Bethlehem Steel and Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel, immediately announced that they would raise their prices to the levels set by U.S. Steel.

Speaking of competition

Public television made news as the year was coming to a close. Dr. James R. Killian of MIT, sometimes called the founding father of public television, decided to retire as chairman of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

Then CBS, Inc., which in 1968 made a one million-dollar contribution to public broadcasting to help launch its nationwide service, announced a second grant of another million dollars.

Over the years, large U.S. corporations such as Exxon, Xerox, Eastman Kodak and others have made grants of many, many millions to underwrite series and specials on noncommercial television.

The CBS grant is different in that it is designed to enable public TV to achieve broader-based financial support, which will eventually translate into better programming. It therefore stipulated that part of the money should go to the Corporation for Public Broadcasting to improve audience research techniques and fund-raising methods on behalf of public TV stations.

Said CBS chairman William S. Paley in announcing the grant, "Public broadcasting, as a welcome supplement to commercial television, benefits us because of the broadened spectrum and stimulating competition which public television offers."

It's still a crime

Security World, the magazine for professional security people, reports that exact replicas of popular weapons, sold as collectors' items, are being used in burglaries and robberies in Los Angeles.

Because the replicas won't fire and therefore can't be classified as guns under the 1968 Gun Control Act, authorities are powerless to do anything to limit their circulation.

The Los Angeles Police Dept., however, has words of advice to anyone who thinks he sees some kind of opportunity in this situation: Even if a fake gun is used in a holdup, the perpetrator is using force or fear — the necessary qualification for armed robbery under the penal code.

Skills basic to homemaking

The Progress-Bulletin, Dec. 12, '74, State Report, "Everyone blames someone else as school violence continues to accelerate", discusses the 150 page report of the select Assembly committee on juvenile violence.

Our homes, schools, communities have propagated a youth generation an increasing percentage of which turns to violence and destruction. Now "solutions appropriate to the problem" must be found in community services, school courses and counseling and parent understanding.

If we focus on those who will be young parents in fifteen, twenty years from now, we may anticipate a generation of skilled homemakers. There are skills and facts basic to making a home which can be taught in the public schools beginning with the first grade and carried on through high school.

What does a parent do? A parent builds up individual personalities as they express and use their talents and capabilities, demonstrates and gives direction for self-control, encourages understanding, acceptance, and in turn, building up of indiviual peer differences. I maintain that a capable parent could build up a real person of consequence.

The suggested course of study for the class room expands the already "sharing" activity of the first graders. Under the skilled leadership of a psychologist or counselor. The program would (a) encourage contributions, (b) develop skills in selecting and presenting their information or entertainment to the class, (c) develop rewards of listening, evaluating, adapting, enlarging and criticizing. By the fifth grade these skills should be achieved and identified. Pupils from the fifth and sixth grades could be associates and aides with the teacher for the primary grades.

The seventh and eighth grades would suggest — maybe demand — practical application outside the class room in area of boy-girl friendships, peer relationships and understanding and cooperation with adults.

The high school course would focus on current and anticipated family and peer goals and problems. Along with courses in nutrition, physiology, finance and homemaking and management, the senior would graduate hopefully knowing what is involved in raising a family. The graduate would be ready for marriage or college to prepare for professional leadership in education, juvenile justice and community services, in the 1990s. In the meantime we must care for those who have not had these opportunities. — Alice Ellis, Claremont.

Kissinger says Israel inflexible

WASHINGTON — At a secret White House briefing, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger recently complained that Israel could help prevent a Middle East explosion "by being more flexible."

He charged the Israelis had jeopardized the peace negotiations because they wouldn't give up another six kilometers of Arab land.

"What is six kilometers," he demanded, "against the risk of war? . . . We were set back because of six lousy kilometers."

Kissinger's remarks were made to congressional leaders who gathered behind closed White House doors for a foreign-policy briefing. The confidential minutes confirm our Dec. 17 report that the sentiment in the back-rooms of Washington is turning against Israel.

President Ford began the Middle East discussion by stressing the grave consequences. All his advisers agreed, he said, "that unless some progress is made, the chances of war are very great."

If this should happen, he warned, "we can look for another oil embargo" and the "likely possibility of confrontation with the Soviets."

Then Kissinger took over.

In some of the most blunt language he has ever used in front of congressional leaders, he blamed Israel for the stalemate in negotiations with Syria.

"Israel had a great opportunity for a West Bank settlement with Jordan's (King) Hussein," Kissinger explained. Israel's failure to deal with Hussein, the secretary contended, led the Arabs to recognize the Palestine Liberation Organization. Now the Israelis must deal with the PLO's hated Yasser Arafat, who has been directing terrorist warfare against them.

This is more than the Israelis can stomach. But because they won't do business with Arafat, the Syrians have balked in their negotiations with Kissinger. This has "stymied" his step-by-step approach to peace, he said, "on the Syrian front."

"We are left with movement toward (Egypt's President) Sadat," Kissinger reported, "in hope we can keep up the step-by-step approach." He added hopefully that there is "still a chance for Egyptian negotiation."

"Isn't there danger," asked Rep. Elford Cederberg, R.-Mich., "of erosion of U.S. support of Israel?"

Kissinger responded, according to the confidential minutes, by asking a question. Do the Israelis "confuse readiness of the United States to give aid," he inquired significantly, "with readiness of the United States to go to war?"

"I don't think so," interrupted Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D.-Minn., a staunch friend of Israel.

"The Israelis and their friends here," said Kissinger, "need to understand the risk of world solidarity against Israel." He carefully excepted the United States from the growing anti-Israeli bloc. "I tell them," responded Humphrey, "you've got to trust us. You've got to trust Dr. Kissinger. A pre-emptive strike by Israel would be a colossal mistake as regards the United States. They must trust us . . ."

"I'm meeting with about 15 Jewish community leaders," President Ford broke in. "I'll say about what you've said. They should trust us. If there's a war and the chips are down, there's fear of an anti-Israeli movement in the United States. We're here to guarantee their integrity, but there must be trust on their part."

"The Russian ambassador thinks his country will join us in a political settlement and a joint guarantee of peace in the area," reported Sen. William Fulbright, D.-Ark., the outgoing Senate Foreign Relations chairman.

This would mean abandoning the step-by-step negotiations and going to Geneva for expanded peace talks, warned Kissinger.

"No Arab there will make a concession in front of the others," he feared. Recognition of the PLO, he also warned, would become "the front issue, blocking any others.

"For the Soviets to really help," he suggested, "they will need first to help move the Arabs toward reasonable positions. If (the Soviets) take the extreme Arab position and then ask us to sell that to the Israelis, we're in trouble."

In case the Middle East should go up in flames again, Senate Armed Services Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., suggested that the United States might furnish Isreal with arms but no manpower.

"Yes," agreed President Ford. "And we've told them that there's a point where we have to consider what the American position would be."

"There's a limit to the money," grumped Senate Appropriations Chairman George Mahon, D.-Tex.

"The Israelis feel that money and armaments are easy to come by," said the President. "I agree there's a limit."

FOOTNOTE: At one point, Rep. William Bray, R.-Ind., brought up the question of Iran's apparent shift from the Israeli to the Arab side. He asked whether the fact that Iran is a Moslem nation raised "aspects of a holy war, which could also involve Turkey," also Moslem.

"We should do nothing to drive Turkey into this position," replied Kissinger.

Some first ladies can't take strain

There's been much concern for former President Nixon and how the mental stress of his recent experience contributed to his physical deterioration. But how about the wives of such men?

When San Francisco's Mayor Joseph Alioto was running for governor, his wife exploded under the strain. I saw Adlai Stevenson's wife walk away from public life — and from him — when she couldn't take it any longer.

I think what happens is that the egocentricity which compels a man to seek the limelight for himself also causes him to select for a mate someone adoring and submissive.

For many women this may be a quite satisfying role until suddenly Mrs. Adoring and Submissive is catapulted into the middle of the political arena where she is fair game for political opponents, the ungentlemanly gentlemen of the press and the excruciating exhaustion of the campaign trail.

We are seeing more women in elective office. These are born with or develop the necessary toughness to shrug off the barbs and to accept what have become real physical dangers to people in public life.

Bill Vaughan recently said, "It's a strange world when success is measured by whether you are important enough to need security guards around the clock."

But recently we have seen a young lady who was not bred for battle — a bright, attractive, pristine college girl — marry the prime minister of Canada.

Margaret Trudeau says she was properly prepared to be Mrs. Trudeau but not to be Mrs. Prime Minister. She has been repeatedly hospitalized for emotional distress.

Only to an outsider does the political profession appear glamorous. On the inside it is a lonely, demanding business, every hour at the beck and call of a public cause or a private constituent.

"The only way I could ever be alone," says Margaret Trudeau, "was to make myself a prisoner in my own room."

Physical and-or mental ailments have taken their toll of Joan Kennedy, Betty Ford, Happy Rockefeller and — to some degree — every Washington wife.

What tremendously tough stuff Pat Nixon must be made of — if, indeed, we know the whole story about that. At least not during all the savage, racking years of his alternating ecstacy and anguish did she ever relax her smiling, poised, proper public image.

Rockefeller's first wife couldn't take it. Nor could the first wife of Maryland's Gov. Marvin Mandel. Sen. John Tunney's wife, on the way out, blamed politics — as does Martha Mitchell — for the devastation of her once happy home.

The prominent do not necessarily have a lower threshold of pain. It must be much the same for the wife of the man on any narcotic.

Just in jest

The National Traffic Safety Administration is proposing that from here on out automobiles be equipped with plastic bumpers instead of the heavy steel bumpers now required. By thus reducing the weight of a car approximately 100 pounds, gasoline consumption will be decreased and a saving can also be made on the overall cost of the car.

And at the same time, the National Traffic Safety Administration insists, "a satisfactory level of protection" can still be maintained. This even though the plastic bumpers will be 20 percent less efficient than heavy steel. —Quite apparently "a satisfactory level of protection" has little to do with the safety of human life and limb so far as the National Traffic Safety Administration is concerned.

But then, to governmental agency experts, doesn't the end invariably deserve the means? What is the loss of a few more human lives as compared to economic expediency?

Waste adds to world's want

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Over the years, we waste billions in foreign aid because we do not use our heads.

There is mounting evidence that relatively small amounts of money carefully channeled into food improvements, waste recovery and the prevention of insect damage and spoilage would sometimes do more to help the world's undernourished than hundreds of millions spent in huge and haphazard food deliveries.

We think conventionally and forego these inexpensive measures which could produce superior results with fewer dollars.

It should be noted too that some of these act without thinking practices also result in higher food costs here.

Some 15-billion pounds of usable whey, rich in protein and in milk lactose, is poured down the drain each year by industry. Billions of pounds of useful materials are thrown out as waste in other food-processing plants.

Rapeseed, linseed, sunflower and palm kernels are cultivated in the main for oil. But the protein potential for humans from current crop levels equals the total protein today supplied from animal sources. All that's required is the adoption of practical techniques for removing toxic and other undesirable constituents.

Many doctors think vitamin A and iron deficiencies to be the most serious nutritional problems in a range of low-income countries such as India. It is believed practical to add A to ten, and ferrous sulfate to salt, for hundreds of millions of people at ridiculously low cost.

Sometimes the problem is simply that foods available for shipment are not those normally eaten by the hungry abroad. In most cases, it would be possible with little work to change the taste or form to make these edibles acceptable to different digestive systems and palates. There is no reason why a drink made from soy beans cannot be more like cow or buffalo milk, or why cheese made from cow's milk can't be made with a taste similar to goat's milk cheese.

But the major gains would come from saving more of the world's crops from insect pests and molds, and food from spoilage. Storage is so primitive in many areas of the world, and protection from pests so inadequate for growing crops, it is considered likely by experts here that half of all agricultural products is lost worldwide.

Rich fish catches in the tropics are a special problem. Uncounted thousands of tons spoil before they can reach the tables of millions of families.

Within the United States itself it's estimated that insects, rats, molds, nomstods and other diseases, weeds and birds and the like destroy almost a third of the crops before or after harvesting. There are an estimated 16,000 pests in this country alone.

Part of our problem is carelessness. For years, we have known how to make human and animal food products from whey economically. In fact, we've been making use of 15-billion pounds a year, which is exactly equal to what's wasted. But it has been convenient, or traditional, for many plants to throw this valuable product away. Starch has been dumped in large quantities with the water when potatoes are boiled in food plants — because manufacturers have been unimaginative.

Today, scarcities and strict new rules on what can be poured into rivers are putting pressure on industries to process and use waste products, to discover new methods for preventing spoilage and to adopt methods already known but neglected.

In the long run, new techniques forced by anti-pollution rules, the worldwide food demand and the inflation can paradoxically help prevent food shortages and excessive foreign aid costs in the next decade. We will also have cleaner rivers.

It's a game in which no one loses.

Heartline

800-543-2393

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions—fast. It costs you nothing. Call Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. or write Heartline, 8514 North Main St., Dayton, Ohio, 45415. Remember, Heartline pays for all calls on its toll-free number . . . 800-543-2393.

HEARTLINE: My husband is going to retire under Social Security. He will be 65 and I am 63. When he retires and gets Medicare, will I also get it since I'm going to draw early wife's benefits? — T.R.

Answer: No, you will not go on Medicare until you are 65.

HEARTLINE: My mother just spent $340 on another Medicare supplement. She already has four supplement policies to go along with her Medicare. Would she be able to get her money back on this new policy? — S.T.

Answer: Yes. In your state, you have a 10-day period to examine clauses in all health insurance policies. When your mother gets the policy, just send it back to the company and they will refund her full payment. Make sure that she keeps the best protection. Read all of her policies and if the last policy that she purchased offers the best protection, we would advise that she keep it.

HEARTLINE: My father is now 72 years old. Does he still pay income tax? — H.M.

Answer: If your father receives gross income of $2,800 or more, he must file a return. If the tax table is used, he will owe tax. However, if he itemizes his deductions and they exceed $1,300, no tax will be due.

HEARTLINE: If I marry, is it necessary to change my name on my Social Security card? — N.I.

Answer: Since all benefits are tabulated by number, it is not necessary. However, to avoid confusion at some later date, we would recommend it.

Heartline: My husband is a veteran with a service-connected disability and he was just released from the hospital. However, he still needs medical care. Will the VA pay for a nursing home? R. C.

Answer: The Veterans Administration may provide nursing home care to veterans who have chronic conditions which require such care, but who are no longer in need of hospitalization. In the case of a veteran hospitalized for a service-connected disability in need of nursing home care, placement at VA expense may exceed six months.

ANN LANDERS

They claim to be severest critics, but Ann considers them first-rate fans

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Every day I fight my husband for the part of the paper that runs your column. We just can't wait to see what the bigoted old bat has to say about marriage, money, drugs, child-rearing, medical problems, legal hassles, cats, dogs and, of course, sex. Obviously, you consider yourself an authority on everything.

Usually we sit back and snicker. Once in a while my husband will say, "Old Annie is at it again, giving her 18th-century views. It must be wonderful to be so smart."

On occasion I get upset by some of your squirrely advice but never was I mad enough to write until you came up with that line, "Tell Ed that Ann Landers said to cool it. He'll understand."

Do you really think Ed gives a hoot in hell what Ann Landers says? You've got yourself lined up there with Confucious and Buddha. This letter is to let you know we think you are obnoxious.—Nuts.

Dear Nuts: People who fight every day for the part of the paper that carries my column are genuine fans. Thanks for letting me know.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Can you possibly squeeze in one more letter on the Mrs. John Smith free-for-all? I don't give a hangnail what the etiquette books say about the proper labeling of a woman. I am Mrs. Ann Jones, happily married to John Jones, and I want to be called Mrs. Ann Jones.

When John starts calling himself Mr. Ann Jones then I'll settle for Mrs. John Jones.

I'm active in club work and can't tell you the number of times I've needed to know a woman's first name and found myself stumped with Mrs. Joe Schmo. Who needs him? It's her I'm looking for.

By way of identify, I'm 36, the mother of four, a lousy housekeeper and not terribly concerned with Women's Lib. I just want to be me. Let me, will you——Mrs. Ann Jones.

Dear Ann: Be my guest.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother is going to a funeral tomorrow (a person she used to work with died) and my 11-year-old brother is bugging her. He wants to go, too.

Chuck did not know the deceased but he is very curious about what goes on at funerals because he has never been to one.

You stated in a column several months ago that if a child wants to attend the funeral of a relative he should not be denied his wish. You also said if he doesn't want to go, he should not be forced to.

Should my mother take Chuck just to satisfy his curiosity?—A N.Y. Q.

Dear N.Y.: It would be unfair to the family to bring a child to a funeral just because he wants to see what's going on. A funeral is not entertainment. Sooner or later a relative will pass on and then Chuck can go—with good reason.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your advice wasn't tough enough for the girl who sent $10 for something to enlarge her bust and received a plastic male hand.

She should have written to the magazine that carried the ad, informed the Better Business Bureau, called the Attorney General of her state and the state where the company is located, written the U.S. Postal authorities, notified the Federal Trade Commission and written to the Bureau of Consumer Affairs in Washington, D.C.

She would not only have gotten her $10 back, but put the crooks out of business. — Informed Reader.

Dear I.R.: Thanks. I hope others who get duped will take your advice.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious—lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers's booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Vasectomy patients provided safeguards

GOVERNMENT officials to Greece's Athens periodically scatter fragments of marble from Mount Pentelikon around the Parthenon. So tourists will pick them up to take home instead of chipping their souvenirs out of the great structure itself. Highly savvy, those Greeks.

Those suicides who leave notes almost never write the dates on them.

ALL I CAN tell you today about the spider is that it oils its legs so it won't get stuck in its web.

RESEARCHERS think that about four million people in this country get up every night to go for a little walk in their sleep.

IN 1927, THE GROSS income of Chicago gangster Al Capone was estimated at $105 million. That's believed to be the most money ever put together in one year by a private citizen.

IF A BACHELOR in old England addressed a girl as "pigeneye" which was the diminutive of "pig's eye," she was complimented no end. It was the quivalent of "darling," honey" or "dearest." Try it on your girl-friend, young fellow.

HORNS

Q. "Does a giraffe shed its horns?"

A. Has no horns. What looks like horns are just soft growths of skin over fat.

YOU SAY you've never head of Joe Fink? He's the fellow who 25 years ago invented the chemical spray that keeps pigeons off eaves. Mr. Fink runs the National Bird Control Laboratory in Skokie, Ill. His spray also discourages starlings from roosting on branches over patios, porches and driveways. That's why the White House calls upon him every four years to treat the trees along Pennsylvania Avenue. So those in attendance at the presidential inaugurations need know no fowl nuisances. That spray doesn't kill those birds, incidentally. Just makes their feet itch.

ERMA BOMBECK

You've just got to trust somebody

You probably won't believe this but I never used to be a suspicious person. Once I even called the Welcome Wagon lady and asked her to recommend a surgeon.

But the last few years it seems like we've gone through an integrity recession . . . a time when faith was overpriced, trust was bullish, and morals were going at face value.

All I know is I've had to set up my own yardstick for measuring trust.

1. Never go to a doctor whose office plants have died.

2. If your bank has "temporary offices" on a flatbed truck, wait until the permanent building is finished and there is a tree planted in the lobby.

3. Never frequent beauty shops that don't have mirrors. They have something to hide. You.

4. Make sure your used car salesman sings in your church choir, has a son running for political office, a wife who is a homeroom mother, and doesn't flinch when you suggest taping the entire sales pitch.

5. Do not trust a school teacher who owns a brand new car unless you saw him win it on Hollywood Squares.

6. Exercise caution at a restaurant that features a yellow bug lamp over the pastry, a dog asleep in the first booth, and stomach cramps from reading the menu.

7. Be wary of an investment broker with a McGovern stiicker on his bumper who smokes havana cigars.

8. Check out a vet who examines your dog and says, "We'll take good care of her" . . . and your dog's name is Sam.

9. Have misgivings about a speaker who doesn't put a watch on the podium . . .but a calendar.

10. Exert caution in inviting a urologist with a sense of humor to a party.

11. Never trust an optometrist who won't look you in the eye.

12. Only an optimist with teeth marks on his leg believes that when a dog shows his teeth he is smiling.

I walked into the living room the other night and twirled about in a new dress. "Whatya think?" I asked my husband.

"You are an incredibly beautiful woman," he said. "And I think you will devastate every man in the room when you walk in wearing that dress."

He had not looked up from his paper.

What the heck. You have to trust somebody.

THE DOCTOR COMMENTS

Face reddens and cools off the body

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Could you tell me why my face gets red when I bend down or when the temperature is in the 80s or over? It gets red when I dance the polka or when I work outside when it's hot. I had my blood pressure checked a couple of times and the doctor said it was normal.

I am 44 years old. I must add that when I do strenuous work like lifting bales of hay I have a hard time getting enough air in my lungs. I am female.

DEAR READER — When you bend over the pressure of the blood flowing to your head increases. Whenever any part of the body is below the heart this tends to occur. You can do an experiment if you want. Lie down and hold your bare feet up in the air. Notice that the skin will become pale. Now sit up and watch the color return to the skin over your feet.

The red color of the face is related to the opening of the small blood vessels in the skin. It may have nothing at all to do with your blood pressure. When you get hot you have to cool the body. So, the small blood vessels open to expose blood to the surface and cool it. Your skin acts as a water cooler temperature control device for your body. So, when the weather is hot your face gets red. When your body is too warm from dancing the polka or even lifting bales of hay the blood is sent to the surface of the skin to cool you off.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Some time back in your column you advised a reader to consult a specialist in "physical medicine."

The terminology is unfamiliar to me and since you mentioned Dr. Janet Travell, President Kennedy's doctor in the White House, who is an osteopath. I'm wondering if a specialist in physical medicine and an osteopath are one and the same.

DEAR READER — First, Dr. Travell was and is a well-known doctor of medicine, not of osteopathy. She was associate professor of pharmacology at Cornell, among her many other accomplishments, before she became President Kennedy's doctor. She is one of the pioneers in muscle function and treatment of muscular disorders, but she is not an osteopath. In point of fact, she graduated number one in her class from medical school, so it is not surprising that she has had such a distinguished career.

Physical Medicine is a specialty in the framework of the medical profession; just as pediatrics, psychiatry, surgery and internal medicine are specialties. These doctors first finish medical school then specialize in the problems that affect the musculoskeletal system. They are involved in work related to rehabilitation, from paralysis due to polio—not so common now, thankfully, to stroke problems and loss or decrease of function of any part of the muscular system.

You may also have a misconception of modern trained osteopaths. Schools of osteopathy train doctors to take care of patients with all manner of medical problems, not just problems of the muscles and bones.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of the Progress-Bulletin, P. O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on balanced diets, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for the "Balanced Diets" booklet.

What people say

"We see him doing remarkable things, toward ending the Vietnam war, toward building up detente between the superpowers and now . . . we wonder in particular to what extent his skills and personality are indispensable ingredients in the structure of detente and of movement toward a settlement in the Middle East."

—European diplomat commenting on Secretary of State Kissinger's problems with the American public.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Ways of getting even with the Arabs

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's comment that military force conceivably might be used to break an oil blockade caused the first big diplomatic flap of the year.

But in the midst of the uproar, let us not lose sight of his later remark that he is "confident the problem will be solved without the use of force."

Although diplomats probably would not state it quite so bluntly, essentially it's a matter of finding some other means of getting even with the Arabs.

Then, if Middle East oil policies began strangling the industralized nations, those countries could bring concerted, tit-for-tat pressure on the petroleum producers.

One way of striking back, short of military force, would be to stop reading "The Arabian Nights." If that didn't start the oil flowing again, we could then stop singing "The Sheik of Araby."

I'm confident these two measures would do the trick. Should the screw need another turn, however, all the ballet companies in the industrialized world could suddenly stop dancing the arabesque.

With this three-pronged embargo, it should not be necessary to take the fourth step, which is so drastic I hesitate to suggest it.

But imagine what it would be like if none of the girl babies born in the industralized world were named Arabella. Certainly that would show the petroleum potentates we mean business.

Barbs

The way things are going, it would be a comfort to live right atop California's San Andreas earth fault.

Don't tell us about the birds and the bees—you get stung by one and hay fever from the other.

Easiest thing to dirty is a white lie.

Keep your head held high and you'll walk into an open manhole!

And these are by no means all the counter-moves available.

Fighting Middle East intransigence with western brutality, we could begin undermining the very symbol of Arabian culture —the camel.

Banish from our wardrobes the camel hair coat. Remove to our attics all camel-back chairs.

Then, if we wanted to get really nasty, we could stop growing Camellias and put a taboo on all future stage and screen productions of "Camelot."

Iran, although not an Arab nation, is a Middle East oil producer and also would be vulnerable to these tactics.

Hitting at Iran under its previous name, we could roll up our Persian rugs and refrain from wearing Persian lamb sweaters.

It is almost inconceivable that an oil embargo could continue in the face of these harsh sanctions.

Should it happen, we would have no choice but to play our hole card. Which is to say that we would ban the use of Arabic numerals.

But heaven forbid it should ever come to that. For if we reverted the Roman numerals, the Arabs might attack us.

Udall hits U.S. reinvolvement in Vietnam

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., a declared candidate for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination, said Tuesday the United States must not go back to war to protect South Vietnam.

"It would be a stupid, foolish mistake to get reinvolved militarily in Southeast Asia," Udall said, reacting to reports of U.S. warship movements.

"Surely we learned in 10 years of trauma that we can't get involved there again," Udall said. "I just hope the reports are not true."

(A Pentagon spokesman said in Washington the ships were not headed for Vietnam.)

Udall, in an interview, also said President Ford should have appointed some liberal critics of the Central Intelligence Agency to the Rockefeller panel probing accusations the agency spied on Americans.

"I don't mind Nelson Rockefeller heading it. He's been a cold warrior and has a harder line toward some of these things than I do. But I think he should have been balanced with some people from the civil liberties field, some of the critics of the CIA. I think if the President wanted his report accepted widely, he should have had a little broader base to it.

"The CIA has been all out of hand these last few years. They've been doing things we now know that I didn't believe. I would have been shocked had I known what was going on. I think we ought to have an adequate investigation, get to the bottom of it, and put them in their place. This country needs an espionage organization but we don't need to spy on Americans.

"We've got enough enemies abroad without trying to make enemies out of our own people."

Udall said he will introduce another federal land-use planning bill "in about a week" and said he is "bitter" about its defeat by the last Congress.

"Lord only knows what flip-flop the administration will do on it this year. A good, sound, local-control, protect-private-property, voluntary land use planning bill," was defeated in 1974 because "the president pulled the rug on it," he said.

Land planning is "fragmented" and "pretty soon government starts bumping into itself," he said.

Efforts by the Department of Housing and Urban Development to revitalize central cities and proposals by the environmental Protection Agency to limit downtown auto use to curb air pollution were cited by Udall as examples.

Addressing a land reclamation seminar attended by university, governmental and mining industry officials, Udall said federal land planning would protect private property and would not be "antigrowth."

U.S. military chief doesn't rule out Asian intervention

HONOLULU (UPI) — The commander of America's military forces in the Pacific said Tuesday that the United States should not rule out intervention in Southeast Asia.

Adm. Noel Gayler said in an interview taped for NBC-Television's "Today" show that the Asian theater was "very important to us."

Admiral Gayler added, "I would not wish to foreclose American intervention in any and all circumstances. I don't think we should put ourselves in that position."

Asked what he thought America should do in the event of an all-out attack by the North Vietnamese, he said the United States "should sustain our friends with material aid to the extent necessary for them to survive."

The officer said Asia was growing in importance.

"The center of gravity of world affairs is going more and more to Asia. It's simply where two-thirds of the human race lives," Gayler said. "I think in the next tens and hundreds of years it is going to be very important to us."

George III unjustly blamed for American revolution, says Prince Charles

LONDON (UPI) — Prince Charles came to the defense of his ancestor King George III today, claiming the king was a conscientious, discreet monarch unjustly blamed for the American revolution.

Charles also lamented that, besides the bad press, one of the burdens of being heir to the British throne was people always expected him to be brilliant.

"The trouble is that people expect one to be a genius at least, if nothing else, and to achieve the impossible rather sooner than in the immediate," he said.

"I think now that I've managed to accustom myself to the pace and made people realize I can't necessarily live up to the program they've mapped out."

Charles, in a copyrighted interview with the London Evening Standard published Tuesday and today, said he would like to be most like King George III than any other British monarch in the last 1,000 years.

He said he first became interested in George III "because people had gone on for years and years in the history books describing him as the "Mad Monarch."

George III "was a much-maligned monarch —particularly by American historians, who obviously found it convenient to a certain extent to make it easier to justify the American revolution. They could argue they were revolting against a mad monarch who had no credibility in America," Charles said.

He said this has tended to obscure George III's talents as patron of science and the arts and his character as a fine country gentleman.

"A lot of people would regard this as boring because he didn't do what Charles II reportedly did and have affairs with all sorts of delectable ladies," said the Prince.

He admitted the wild affairs of Charles II made him appaear "much more glamorous than a chap who works hard and is a conscientious monarch—and is also more discreet."

In Tuesday's story Charles said he was rather lonely and was considering marriage as soon as he finds the right woman.

Charles, considered one of the world's most eligible bachelors, says it's tough being heir to the British throne. It seems that people get nervous around him and he has a hard time making friends.

"So one has, in that sense, a lonely existence," he said in an interview published Tuesday in the London Evening Standard newspaper. "But I've got perfectly used to it. It just requires a bit more effort."

The 26-year-old prince said he's started thinking about finding a wife. "When you get to my extraordinary age of decrepitude one beings to think about things like that," he said.

Is there a favorite in the race for future queen?

"Well, that would be letting too much out of the bag, wouldn't it?" Charles said. "Obviously there must be someone somewhere for me."

He played down reports linking him with Lady Jane Wellesley, daughter of the Duke of Wellington and often mentioned as a possible queen. "We're just good friends," he said.

"To me marriage, which may be for 50 years, seems to be one of the biggest and most responsible steps to be taken in one's life," he said. "My marriage has to be for ever."

He says he now looks at women he meets and begins to "wonder if one could ever marry her or something like that."

"And obviously there are certain people I've thought of on those lines," he said. "But, no, I wouldn't say anybody in particular at this moment."

Charles has answered questions on radio and television, but it was the first time he has granted an interview to a newspaper in Britain. The second part of the interview was appearing today.

Asked if he indulged in disguise to avoid recognition, Charles replied, "No, it's quite pointless. I tried it once at Cambridge because I wanted to go along and see what was happening in a demonstration."

"I borrowed an overcoat, put up the collar and pulled down a hat over my eyes," he said. "I just looked like me trying not to look like me. And everybody kept looking."

He said he has the same problem wearing dark glasses.

"Everyone wonders what on earth you're doing wearing dark glasses, particularly when the sun's not out," he said. "Even if you put a false beard on or something it'll blow away."

George III unjustly blamed for American revolution, says Prince Charles

LONDON (UPI) — Prince Charles came to the defense of his ancestor King George III today, claiming the king was a conscientious, discreet monarch unjustly blamed for the American revolution.

Charles also lamented that, besides the bad press, one of the burdens of being heir to the British throne was people always expected him to be brilliant.

"The trouble is that people expect one to be a genius at least, if nothing else, and to achieve the impossible rather sooner than in the immediate," he said.

"I think now that I've managed to accustom myself to the pace and made people realize I can't necessarily live up to the program they've mapped out."

Charles, in a copyrighted interview with the London Evening Standard published Tuesday and today, said he would like to be most like King George III than any other British monarch in the last 1,000 years.

He said he first became interested in George III "because people had gone on for years and years in the history books describing him as the "Mad Monarch."

George III "was a much-maligned monarch —particularly by American historians, who obviously found it convenient to a certain extent to make it easier to justify the American revolution. They could argue they were revolting against a mad monarch who had no credibility in America," Charles said.

He said this has tended to obscure George III's talents as patron of science and the arts and his character as a fine country gentleman.

"A lot of people would regard this as boring because he didn't do what Charles II reportedly did and have affairs with all sorts of delectable ladies," said the Prince.

He admitted the wild affairs of Charles II made him appaear "much more glamorous than a chap who works hard and is a conscientious monarch—and is also more discreet."

In Tuesday's story Charles said he was rather lonely and was considering marriage as soon as he finds the right woman.

Charles, considered one of the world's most eligible bachelors, says it's tough being heir to the British throne. It seems that people get nervous around him and he has a hard time making friends.

"So one has, in that sense, a lonely existence," he said in an interview published Tuesday in the London Evening Standard newspaper. "But I've got perfectly used to it. It just requires a bit more effort."

The 26-year-old prince said he's started thinking about finding a wife. "When you get to my extraordinary age of decrepitude one beings to think about things like that," he said.

Is there a favorite in the race for future queen?

"Well, that would be letting too much out of the bag, wouldn't it?" Charles said. "Obviously there must be someone somewhere for me."

He played down reports linking him with Lady Jane Wellesley, daughter of the Duke of Wellington and often mentioned as a possible queen. "We're just good friends," he said.

"To me marriage, which may be for 50 years, seems to be one of the biggest and most responsible steps to be taken in one's life," he said. "My marriage has to be for ever."

He says he now looks at women he meets and begins to "wonder if one could ever marry her or something like that."

"And obviously there are certain people I've thought of on those lines," he said. "But, no, I wouldn't say anybody in particular at this moment."

Charles has answered questions on radio and television, but it was the first time he has granted an interview to a newspaper in Britain. The second part of the interview was appearing today.

Asked if he indulged in disguise to avoid recognition, Charles replied, "No, it's quite pointless. I tried it once at Cambridge because I wanted to go along and see what was happening in a demonstration."

"I borrowed an overcoat, put up the collar and pulled down a hat over my eyes," he said. "I just looked like me trying not to look like me. And everybody kept looking."

He said he has the same problem wearing dark glasses.

"Everyone wonders what on earth you're doing wearing dark glasses, particularly when the sun's not out," he said. "Even if you put a false beard on or something it'll blow away."

GUEST WELCOMED — Jack Gebel, Exalted Ruler of Pomona Elks Lodge 789, left, and Ken Moore, district deputy Grand Exalted Ruler of Corona, right, welcome Grand Exalted Ruler Gerald Strohm, center, who visited the Southeast District during a stop at Pomona Sunday. Strohm's visit to Pomona was the first by a grand exalted ruler in 14 years. Some 200 Elks and guests attended the dinner-dance. Strohm spoke on Elks' charity work and its National Foundation which last year donated scholarships to worthy students amounting to about $100,000. Ford accused of false gas mileage claims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government charged Wednesday that Ford Motor Co. made false fuel economy claims for its cars during last year's energy crisis.

The Federal Trade Commission said the country's second biggest automobile maker, in advertisements during the peak of the shortage, had no proof that the average driver could expect anything like the fuel performance described.

The ads were based on a long-distance run from Phoenix, Ariz., to Los Angeles, and claimed that all of the Ford models involved got at least 26 miles to the gallon.

The case, pending since last July, was turned over to an administrative law judge for a hearing.

The Ford complaint is part of a larger case which FTC officials have described as "a comprehensive effort to ensure that consumer anxieties about the energy situation are not exploited by advertising which is false, misleading or unsubstantiated."

The complaint originally was proposed last July, along with a similar one against Chrysler as well as a settlement in a third advertising case involving General Motors. The Chrysler case is still pending.

Ford fought the complaint, saying the ads were in no way deceptive. It claimed that the ads clearly stated the ordinary driver might not do as well with his car and driving habits, and it said it was "puzzled by the confused rationale" of the agency's action.

Negotiations between the company and the FTC since July failed to produce a settlement, prompting the agency to make the complaint formal and turn it over to an administrative judge Wednesday for a hearing.

One of the ads said that in the long-distance run the Mercury Comet got 26.6 miles per gallon, the Ford Maverick 26.7, the Ford Pinto 28.1, the Ford Mustang II 28.3 and the Mercury Capri 32.4.

The complaint says the company is guilty of deceptive and unfair advertising because the ads did not reflect ordinary driving conditions and had "the capacity and tendency to mislead members of the consuming public into the purchase of substantial quantities of autos manufactured" by Ford.

Ex-Sen. Wheeler dies; he was 92

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Burton Kendall Wheeler, who fought the Teapot Dome scandal and FDR's "court-packing" plan in 24 tumultuous years in the Senate, died at his home this week. He was 92.

Wheeler, whose political philosophy was described as everything from conservative to communistic, ran for the vice presidency with Sen. Robert M. LaFollette on the Progressive ticket in 1924 and represented Montana in the Senate from 1923 until 1947.

Funeral arrangements were not yet arranged. Wheeler died about 11 p.m. EST Monday shortly after retiring for the evening.

The cause of death was not announced but a spokesman said, "It was very quiet at the end, no pain."

Santa Barbara oil drilling under study

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Democratic-controlled state Lands Commission met for the first time Tuesday in secret session to discuss the fate of renewed oil drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel.

Lawyers for the attorney general briefed the three new commissioners during the informal meeting on the status of lawsuits trying to halt the offshore drilling.

The old Republican-controlled commission, at its last two meetings, approved proposals by ARCO and Standard Oil to resume offshore operations to end a five-year moratorium dating back to the 1969 oil spill in the channel.

Legislators urged to follow Brown on cuts

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The top Republican in the state Senate has called on the legislature to follow the example set by Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. and cut its multi-million dollar budget.

Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, Tuesday said at a news conference he would ask the Rules Committes of both the Assembly and Senate to reduce "contingency funds by a minimum of 7 per cent and preferably by 10 per cent."

The legislature currently spends $40 million to $50 million annually. Brown announced Monday he would reduce by 7 per cent, or $210,000, the budget of his own office.

Deukmejian said the reductions could be made through employe attrition and "more stringent controls" over such things as legislative expenditures for furniture and telephone use.

Russ deny rumors of power struggle

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union denied for the first time today rumors of a power struggle in the Communist party leadership.

The Tass news agency said the rumors are "fabrications."

Denying the latter rumors, Tass said: "The party and people of the Soviet Union are united and the Soviet people fully support and trust their leadership, their party and its Central Committee."

Nessen says polls don't bother Ford

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "The polls don't bother the President, he feels he has to do what is right," White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Tuesday.

Nessen was responding to a reporter's question of how President Ford reacted to a Harris poll which showed that 86 per cent of those sampled do not believe that he is doing an effective job in fighting the current economic situation.

"He's aware of it," Nessen replied. "He goes along and does what he believes is right, and the polls don't bother him."

When pressed further, Nessen pointed out that Ford had only been in office five months. "Let's wait and see what the reaction is to his economic program and to his energy program," he said. "He believes that what he is about to do is best for the country and the economy.

"His economic program is not based on what he thinks is popular. Obviously he thinks it will be proper. The economy is bad, and he is the first to admit it."

Secretary qualifies for honor

A member of the Ontario Legal Secretaries Association, Mrs. Wynn Carland, has earned the title Professional Legal Secretary as the result of completing two-day examinations given by the National Association of Legal Secretaries.

Mrs. Carland is secretary to Harold A. Bailin of the law firm of Covington and Crowe. She will be presented her PLS certificate at the annual convention of the National Association of Legal Secretaries at Portland, Ore., in July.

Since the PLS examinations were first given in 1960, 565 legal secretaries have achieved the coveted rating. Other Ontario legal secretaries who hold the title are Mrs. Betty Gustafson and Mrs. Marjorie Cantu.

MRS. WYNN CARLAND

Sweet Adelines plan area harmony school

An in-depth area school on the art of barbershop harmony will be sponsored by Pomona Valley Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., at Pilgrim Congregational Church, 600 N. Garey Ave., Saturday, from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Theme for the event is "Think 'n' Tank" and will feture an outstanding teaching faculty that is widely known in regional and international Sweet Adelines circles. Heading the group will be Judy Randall of Fontana, director of musical activities for Sweet Adelines Region 11.

Some of the topics will be individual voice production and the art of listening intelligently. In addition, there will be a coaching session for each chorus in attendance.

Participating choruses for this area, in addition to Pomona Valley Chapter, will be Inland Empire, Cactus Flower, Citrus Blossom, East San Gabriel Valley, and Las Vegas chapters.

Faculty conducting the school will be Jan Gianera and Bert Siggins. Lois Whitney, Glendora, is conductor of the local chapter.

Mrs. Margaret Cokeley is chairman for the dinner. Assisting her will be Gretchen Ross and Sheila Schoonmaker.

Provide humidity

Plant herbs for indoor growing in well-drained soil in a pot with a hole in the bottom and give them plenty of light and some humidity. One way to provide the latter: set the pot on a layer of pebbles in a shallow tray and keep water level with top surface of pebbles.

Polka Boosters set induction

The Southern California Polka Boosters will hold an installation dinner and dance Saturday evening.

Dinner will be held at The Italian Gardens in Montclair. A social hour at 6 p.m. will precede the 7 p.m. dinner.

The dance will be held at the DFS Hall, 5126 Riverside Drive, Chino, at 9 p.m. Dave Miron and his band will provide the music.

The event is open to guests and reservations and additional information may be obtained by calling 622-5862 or 985-3121.

Gallery Theater sets tryouts for musical

Gallery Theater will hold auditions for the musical, "Bye, Bye, Birdie" at the theater, C Street and Lemon Avenue, Ontario, from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday.

There are parts for singers, dancers and actors from 15 to 40 years of age. An accompanist will be furnished. A choreographer will supervise the tryouts of dancers.

The play will be presented from the latter part of February through March. Rehearsals will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Currently playing at the Gallery is Neil Simon's "The Odd Couple," starring Mark Shipley and Duane Thomas. Information on the tryouts and ticket reservations can be obtained at 982-5357.

NEW ARRIVAL — Actor James Franciscus and his wife, Kitty, beam over a new addition to their family, daughter Jolie, who weighed in at seven pounds this week at a hospital in Santa Monica. Franciscus won critical acclaim for his TV performance in "The Dream Makers" Tuesday.

At the Music Center

Polish composer to hear Philharmonic in his work

Polish composer Krzysztof Penderecki will attend the American premiere of his symphony to be presented at the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center by the Los Angeles Philharmonic at 8:30 tonight and Friday and at 3 p.m. Sunday.

The work had its premiere in London in 1973. For his rhythmic effects, Penderecki has added to a relatively conventional orchestration a huge percussion battery requiring six performers. The 30-minute work abounds in rhythmic intricacies and the interesting sonorities characteristic of Penderecki's work.

Also on the program are Schubert's Symphony No. 3 and Dvorak's Violin Concerto, with the young Korean violinist, Kyung-Wha Chung, as soloist. Zubin Mehta directs.

Miss Chung, the youngest daughter of a prominent musical family attracted worldwide attention in 1967 when she tied Pinchas Zukerman for first place in the Leventritt International Competition.

Since then she has had an active and successful career in Europe and the United States. She has appeared with the Philharmonic under both Mehta and Andre Previn, and last summer performed with the London Symphony at the Hollywood Bowl.

NANCY PUTHUFF

Local girl to appear at Melodyland

Nancy Puthuff of Pomona, 10-year-old pianist and actress, will appear in the second annual "Children's Celebration" at Melodyland Christian Center in Anaheim at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Jack Coleman will direct a children's choir from the First Baptist Church of Van Nuys. Also on the card are ventriloquist Uncle Fred Pettet and Gina, the puppet bear, and the group, Harvest, of Fullerton.

Miss Puthuff, adaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Puthuff, is a member of the Screen Actors Guild. She has performed in the Valley Community Theater productions of "Inherit the Wind" and "Fiddler on the Roof." She is a fifth grader at Yorba Elementary School and a member of the Brethren in Christ Church of Upland. She is active in 4-H and the Gifted Children's Association of Pomona Valley. For the past two years she has received a superior rating in the National Piano Guild auditions. At the celebration she will tell how God helps her in acting.

Admission is free.

Bo Donaldson scheduled with Osmonds

Bo Donaldson and the Heywoods, whose single, "Billy, Don't Be a Hero," has sold more than three million copies, will join the musical Osmonds in a performance in the Anaheim Stadium at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Tickets at $7 and $5 are on sale at the box office and at Mutual agencies.

Presented under the auspices of the Boys Club of Garden Grove in association with Dick Clark Concerts, the show now features two outstanding recording and performing acts. The Osmonds have over 20 million-selling records to their credit. The Heywoods were recently named top new male vocal group by Cashbox magazine.

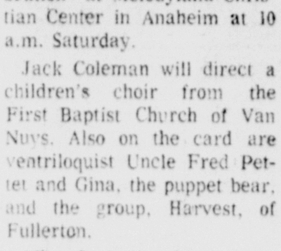

The date will be the only Southern California concert appearance of 1975 for the Osmonds and their first since 1972. It also marks the local debut of the record industry's new singing duo—Donny and Marie Osmond—whose current single, "Morning Side of the Mountain," is climbing the hit charts.

Following the concert the Osmonds head back to their Utah home to complete musical scoring for their upcoming motion picture debut. The launching of "Around the World with the Osmonds" concert tour has been delayed until after the movie is completed.

Researchers urge caution on U.S. energy solutions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States should neither go overboard on the idea of energy self-sufficiency nor get too rigidly committed to agreements with other nations, according to an energy study released recently by the Brookings Institution.

The report, compiled by Brookings researchers Joseph A. Yager and Eleanor Steinberg as part of the Ford Foundation's Energy Policy Project, said total energy self-sufficiency is not desirable "because of its political costs and other drawbacks."

It suggested cutting back imports to about 20 or 25 per cent of domestic needs. They now run 30 per cent. The moderate cutback would ensure filling needs without serious hardship should foreign sources be interupted, the report said.

As for international energy policy, it said, "the United States should hedge all bets, taking no irreversible gambles on particular source of energy supply or on the stability of the energy-related policies of other nations."

Project Independence, to which the Ford administration is committed, envisions essential self-sufficiency in energy during the 1980s. It does not intend to eliminate imports, but to cut them back below the 20 to 25 per cent the Brookings authors suggested.

"Following a flexible policy, the United States should be able... to avoid both extreme risks and intolerable political or economic costs," the authors said.

"Since the needed degree of cooperation may not be forthcoming in every instance, the United States must be prepared, when necessary, to act by itself."

Vandals hit fire hydrants

Chino firemen and sheriff's deputies are investigating a series of incidents in the Glenmeade and Cinnamon Ridge area where youths apparently are opening fire hydrants and running over others at night.

Firemen said they were busy Sunday night and early Monday closing a number of fire hydrants opened by vandals and reported at least one incident where a fire hydrant was run over by a car. Firemen said no appreciable damage has been caused by the open hydrants, but cautioned that anyone found tampering with fire hydrants may be convicted of a misdemeanor and sentenced to 6 months in jail and a $500 fine.

Ex-newsman donates area historical info

Historical files covering the past 50 years have been donated to the Ontario Public Library by former newspaperman Forrest E. Doucette of Upland.

Doucette and his wife, Ferna, published the Ontario Herald and Outlook during World War II. The material donated to the library includes bound and unbound issues of the newspapers, historical data and information covering activities in the civic and social life of Ontario, Upland and San Antonio Heights, along with filing cases of correspondence on projects carried out by the paper on the local and state scene and copies of various historical publications.

The collection also include material on World War II, California, Arizona and World War I. Some material on WWI has been given to Ontario Post 112 of the American Legion and the Veterans Hospital at Whipple Barracks, Prescott, Ariz., where Doucette was a patient following his return from France after the war.

The material is being separated in the Model Colony Room of the library and will be available to persons researching on the Ontario-Upland area. Some of the material will be forwarded to the Arizona Historical Society in Tucson.

Archie D. Mitchell, a native of Ontario and retired Superior Court judge, is evaluating the material.

The library director, James R. Housel, stated that the material is one of the most valuable historical collections to be given to the Ontario Public Library since he became its director.

Items from the Doucette collection are also being distributed to the Upland Public Library, Upland Pioneer Junior High School, Pomona Historical Society, Auto Club of Southern California's Westways Magazine, USC Journalism Department, California Newspaper Publishers Association, Cal State Long Beach and the Douglas Aircraft Co. historical department at Long Beach.

Dutch agriculture

Scientific agriculture probably was first used by the Dutch in the first half of the 17th century. They used a crop rotation system to keep their limited land area fertile.

Probably many sponges you use at home were made in a factory. They are made of synthetic material to look and clean like true sponges.

If you have ever used a true sponge to wash anything, you are using the soft skeleton of an animal that once lived in the sea.

Sponges don't look like other animals. A sponge has no head or mouth.

Water flowing through the many holes in its body brings oxygen and tiny bits of plant matter that provide food for it.

For almost all its life, the sponge stays in one place — attached to the ocean floor.

There are sponges of all shapes, sizes, and colors. Some are shaped like fans, vases, and bowls.

Some sponges are only about as big as a pea. Others may grow to be several feet tall.

Sponge fishermen use a long, hooked pole to pull up sponges that live in shallow water. In deep water, fishermen dive for sponges in diving suits.

50 firefighter jobs open in S.B. County

San Bernardino County's Special Districts Department is seeking applicants for 50 firefighter trainee positions being funded through the Comprehensive Employment Training Act.

All applicants will be given written Tests Friday at the San Bernardino Convention Center. Those who pass will then undergo an agility test on Saturday at Bloomington High School.

An application review committee will screen those who complete both examinations and 50 will be selected to begin training. The seven week course will be held at Chaffey College in Alta Loma. Those who graduate will be assigned to one of the county's fire districts for additional training. Most trainees are expected to fill permanent positions during the 1975-76 fiscal year.

The county department is placing special emphasis on recruitment of the disadvantaged, minorities and Vietnam era veterans, said officials.

For more information, persons may phone the special districts department at 383-2568.

Illegal alien panel named

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford Monday named a special high-level panel to keep him advised on the problem of illegal aliens in the United States.

The "Domestic Council Committee on Illegal Aliens" will be chaired by the Attorney General, and include the secretaries of State, Treasury, Agriculture, Commerce, Labor and Health, Education and Welfare.

Faulty cord suspect in home fire

Ontario fire inspectors suspect that a faulty electrical cord may have been the cause of an $8,000 fire in a bedroom at 927 N. Glenn Ave. Tuesday night.

Firemen said the fire was reported at 8:41 p.m. by William Demay and his family who ran out of the smoke-and fire-filled home.

Demay said he smelled smoke in the house, opened the bedroom door and found the room totally engulfed in flames.

When firemen arrived the fire was eating up into the attic area of the home and into the hallway. For 45 minutes the firemen fought the blaze that send huge billows of black smoke out the heat-shattered bedroom window.

Inspectors Wednesday returned to the scene and discovered that an electrical extension cord to a bedside lamp had severely shorted.

Universe's age

New astronomers agree on how the universe was created, but it is generally accepted that the universe as it is now known started between 9.5 billion and 10.5 billion years ago.

Tax value of employer meals hiked

Starting on Jan. 1, the taxable value of meals furnished employes by their employers has been increased, according to Jack Mendelsohn, manager of the Employment Tax District Office in El Monte.

Regulations of the State Department of Benefit Payments call for modifications whenever the fiscal year average of retail food prices in California cities varies by 10 per cent or more from the same average for the fiscal year 1968-69.

Cost-of-living indexes furnished by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics show an increase of 40.7 per cent from 1968-69 to 1973-74.

Meals and lodging furnished to employes in California in addition or in lieu of cash wages are taxable for Unemployment and Disability Insurance purposes, although the value of meals and lodging is not subject to state income tax withholding if furnished on the employer's premises for his convenience. Meals and lodging furnished employes in agricultural labor are taxable for Disability Insurance only.

Employers in the San Gabriel and Pomona valleys may receive help in preparing tax returns at the office, 9537 Telstar Ave., Suite 115, El Monte, phone (213) 443-0221.

Amazing Amazons

Amazon is Greek for "without breast." Greek mythology told of a race of female warriors living without men, sending away or killing any sons born. The women had their right breasts burned off so they could more easily draw the bow. The word is used today when speaking of brawny women.

Sore arm helps Tarkenton

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Bud Grant, coach of the Minnesota Vikings, will take good omens anywhere he can find them —even in the sore throwing arm of quarterback Fran Tarkenton.

Grant, whose Vikings are 3½ point underdogs to the Pittsburgh Steelers for Sunday's Super Bowl IX, revealed Tarkenton's injury Wednesday but classified the ailment "a good omen because Francis always has a good day when his arm is sore."

"If the arm is still sore on Sunday, I'm sure he'll have a great day," added Grant who also disclosed that Tarkenton has had periods of soreness during the season. "He is like most quarterbacks, they have on-and-off periods. Maybe it was the rain yesterday that caused the soreness.

"I'm not worried knowing his record over 14 years. We'll have him rest it a little in practice. Francis is like all the great ones—when they get nicked or have a temperature or something of that nature they work twice as hard."

If that be the case, then the Steelers seemingly would have no need to worry over the condition of right defensive end Dwight White who has been hospitalized the last three days. Club spokesmen have predicted White's release each day since the beginning of the week but he remained in the hospital Wednesday in order to get three additional treatments for the viral infection that has kept him away from practice since the Steelers arrived here.

"The extra day in the hospital won't have that much affect on him," said Steelers' coach Chuck Noll. "He wasn't going to practice Wednesday anyhow. I expect him to be released in time for our morning meeting today and expect him to practice with the club today, Friday and Saturday."

However, Noll did admit White hasn't been eating much since he entered the hospital and may have lost a few pounds.

"If he does start Sunday, I guess we'll have to keep an eye on him," said Noll who added that in the event White couldn't be ready for the Vikings, he would be replaced by Steve Furness.

Opposing either White or Furness across the line for the Vikings will be 15-year veteran Grady Alderman who gained a starter's roll following Tuesday's injury to regular left offensive tackle Charles Goodrum. Goodrum, a second year pro out of Florida A&M, pulled a leg muscle during a workout and was still listed by Grant as "doubtful" for Sunday's game.

"We can wait as late as Friday before determining whether Goodie can play," Grant said. "We have Alderman ready to start if Goodie can't go, with Steve Riley behind Grady."

Alderman, a 15-year veteran, is the only remaining member of the original Viking team founded in 1961 and will be making his third Super Bowl appearance. Both previous appearances resulted in losses 23-7 to Kansas City in 1970 and 24-7 to Miami last year.

"I hear White's ill but I expect him to be there Sunday," Alderman said. "I don't know much about his replacement, Furness, but then he doesn't know much about me either. All I know is that he's just in his third year and I've got 12 years experience on him."

The Vikings, with 16 players having participated in the two previous Super Bowl games involving Minnesota, do have the edge in experience on the Steelers but Grant maintained he is not worried about the age factor working against his club.

"We've been growing old for six years," Grant said. "But we have more depth now and that's one of our great strengths. The secret is to grow old gracefully."

One of those growing old gracefully is the 34-year-old Tarkenton who was with the New York Giants in 1970 when Minnesota made its first Super Bowl appearance but quarterbacked last year's Viking team. He has never missed a game because of injury in 14 pro seasons and tried to play down his current ailment.

"The arm has been sore the last six or eight weeks," Tarkenton said. "I got hit in the right shoulder in one of our early games and that may be the cause. It feels better this week because we had last week off. I don't do much throwing during practice anyway. And it hasn't affected my throwing all year."

Commenting on Tarkenton's ability to avoid serious injury for 14 years, Grant said, "Durability is the best ability an athlete can possess. You don't achieve greatness without it. The great ones are the ones who play."

Bruins should win it again

Reports of the end of the UCLA dynasty were very premature.

John Wooden's Bruins are as powerful as ever. Just ask their victims?

Another Pacific-8 Conference basketball season begins tonight at friendly Pauley Pavilion when the Bruins host a hopeful Washington team.

Everyone is saying that this could be the most exciting Pac-8 race ever and the league has finally achieved its desired great balance.

This is the year UCLA should slip. After all, Bill Walton is now enjoying the clean air of Oregon and Keith Wilkes is one of the top rookies in the NBA.

How quick people forget. It will take more than graduation for the UCLA empire to collapse.

It will take a miracle for anyone but UCLA to win the Pac-8 crown this season. UCLA is a strong as ever and is very capable of completing another undefeated season climaxed by the national title.

While it's true UCLA is young and experienced, it's just the right team for Wooden. This year's club is willing to learn and has the enthusiasm and desire so lacking with last year's seniors.

Wooden probably has more depth this year. For once, he hasn't been able to settle on his top seven or eight players because of the exceptional balance.

The Pac-8 is a much stronger league with every team able to upset anyone. So it's unlikely for UCLA to breeze through the conference schedule but the Bruins have too much of everything and should win their ninth consecutive title.

Actually, the big race this season is for second place. Thanks to the recent expansion of the NCAA field to 32 teams, there is room for the leading runner-ups.

Top challengers

As usual, USC has one of the nation's top teams but is only second best in its home town. The Trojans would be a big thing anywhere else but contine to draw slim crowds in L.A. It's too bad some of Troy's great football followers don't support the basketball team.

Coach Boy Boyd has good size at USC and one of nation's top guards in Gus Williams.

Oregon is one of the final four undefeated teams in the nation. The Ducks are awesome at their pit in Eugene but it remains to be proved if they can consistently win enough on the road to battle UCLA for the title.

Garey High product Greg Ballard is off to a great start in his sophomore season at Oregon. The 6-foot-6 star is averaging 15.3 points and 9.7 rebounds a game for the Ducks.

It figures to be an exciting Pac-8 season and the addition of Thursday night television games should add to the fans enjoyment.

Locally, Cal Poly has some hope now for the California Collegiate Athletic Association race.

Last week's upset win over Cal State Los Angeles indicates Poly can compete for the CCAA crown. The four new additions have made a big difference.

Defending champion Cal Poly San Luis Obispo is definitely the team to beat. Saturday's battle of the Polys at Kellogg Gym will prove whether the Broncos can win the title or not.

Claremont-Mudd's Bill Arce completed his term as president of the American Association of College Baseball Coaches at this week's annual convention at Washington, D.C.

Arce wrote a report on the year's progress in the current issue of Collegiate Baseball, a newspaper devoted to the sport.

As part of his duties, Arce attended three post-season tournaments.

Arce wrote, "My observations of these three tournaments could be summed up by stating college baseball is in darn good shape. The level of competition in each of the championship tournaments was excellent."

Speaking of college baseball, UC Riverside is hosting its ninth annual Intercollegiate Baseball Tournament on March 24-29. This year's field has host UCR, Arizona, Southern Methodist, Washington State, Stanford, Cornell, Santa Clara and Southern Illinois.

Bruins, Huskies open Pac-8 play

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Second-ranked UCLA launches its bid for a ninth straight Pacific-8 basketball title tonight at home against Washington as conference play begins in what could be the closest race in years.

UCLA's Bruins are favored to successfully defend the Pac-8 crown they've won 12 times in the past 13 years, but also highly rated are Southern California (10-1), Oregon (9-0) and Washington (9-2).

The 10-0 Bruins have won 73 games in a row on their home court at Pauley Pavilion, dating back to 1970.

"I think our improvement has been unspectacular but steady," said coach John Wooden, whose post-Bill Walton era Bruins have been a minor surprise in their strength.

"And I am pleased."

Young UCLA trounced Davidson 91-64 and Oklahoma 111-66 to close out its pre-conference schedule.

"Now we must concentrate on Washington," Wooden said. "They are coached by Marv Harshman, whom I have long considered one of the better coaches in our profession.

"The Huskies have shown that they are ready to make a run for the conference title with an outstanding 9-2 pre-conference record.

"They have size, speed and experience to go with their excellent leadership and we must be prepared to play to our potential."

Bruin captain Dave Meyers leads the team in scoring with a 17.5 average and is No. 2 in rebounds with a 7.3 average. He is the only returning starter.

Also expected to open against the Huskies are Richard Washington, who will join Meyers at forward, center Ralph Drollinger and guards Pete Trgovich and Andre McCarter.

Guard Clarence Ramsey is the top Huskies scorer with an average of 18 points a game. Washington's starting squad also includes forwards Larry Pounds and Larry Jackson, guard Chester Dorsey and either Lars Hansen or James Edwards at center.

The Bruins face Washington State in their second conference game Saturday night.

The rest of the conference swings into action Friday night with Cal at Oregon State, Stanford at Oregon, and Washington State at USC.

In Coast battles Wednesday night, Portland fell to nationally 14th ranked Marquette 87-57. Idaho shot 57 per cent from the floor in an 83-64 win over San Diego while Tom Foulds hit 22 points in leading Northridge past Westmont 74-65.

Western Washington hit 58 per cent in a 115-79 romp over St. Martin's and Jim Preston scored 19 in a 65-55 Whittier win over Pomona in the opener of SCIAC play. Paul Newton tallied 21 as Cal Poly Pomona raced past Cal Lutheran 107-78.

Kings continue to stay right behind Canadiens

By United Press International

The Los Angeles Kings continue to dog the skates of the Montreal Canadiens in Division 3 of the National Hockey League.

The Kings, playing at Bloomington, Minn., scored a 4-2 victory over the North Stars Wednesday night and now are three points behind first-place Montreal.

Butch Goring beat goalie Cesare Maniago for two second-period goals to lead the Kings to their 21st victory in 39 games. With 54 points, they trail the Canadiens by three points.

In other NHL games, Jacques Richard assisted on Atlanta's first two goals and broke a 2-2 tie with a 30-foot slapshot as the Flames downed the California Seals, 3-2; Stan Mikita scored the 449th goal of his career and had two assists in the Chicago Black Hawks' 7-5 win over the Pittsburgh Penguins; Serge Savard's goal with 4:43 left enabled the Canadiens to tie the Detroit Red Wings, 4-4; Errol Thompson scored a third-period goal and assisted on another as the Toronto Maple Leafs beat the Vancouver Canucks, 6-4, and Brad Park scored three goals in the New York Rangers' 6-1 triumph over the Kansas City Scouts.

Kings' goalie Rogie Vachon and defenseman Bobby Orr of the Boston Bruins were the only unanimous selections for the National Hockey League All-Star Game on the Prince of Wales Conference squad.

Also voted by the writers to the starting team were center Phil Esposito of Boston, left wing Richard Martin of Buffalo, right wing Guy Lafleur of Montreal and defenseman Guy Lapointe of Montreal.

Reserves selected to the team were Terry Harper of the Kings, Carol Vadnais of Boston, Johnny Bucyk of Boston, Rene Robert of Buffalo, Gil Perreault of Buffalo and Ken Dryden of Montreal.

Walnut High's Cox scores 36 in back-up role

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Correspondent

AZUSA — Wednesday, January 8 will go down in the memory book of Walnut High's Robert Cox . . . and it's not likely that Gladstone High will forget him either.

Cox, a 5-11 senior guard for coach Bill Murray's Mustangs, poured in a personal high 36 points Wednesday afternoon in the Gladiator gym to pace Walnut to a Hacienda League opening, 81-58, rout.

Cox, normally a seventh or eighth man performer on the talented 11-man Walnut squad, got the starting nod when Kelly Bowlin was unable to make the starting bell because of the flu.

The wiry righthander made the most of his rare start by connecting on 11-of-19 field goal attempts and 14-of-16 charities (including the last 12 straight) to lead the No. 4 ranked CIF 3-A Mustangs to their 10th win in 14 outings

He began his one-man demolition job in the first quarter by canning five of six shots and finishing with 12 markers as the Mustangs enjoyed a 19-6 edge.

Cox added six points in the second period and got help from Jay Wetzel, who potted six of his 15 points, as the lead mounted to 37-19 by intermission.

Gladstone was unable to get the ball inside against Walnut's tall but quick zone defense and could make just six-of-25 shot attempts. The Glads had also committed 16 of their 27 turnovers by the half.

"It's like I've been saying all along," said Murray, after the easy win. "Defense, along with Tommy (Thompson) running our offense (he had 10 more assists), Jay (Wetzel) working the boards (10 rebounds) and Cox giving us the offense led us today."

The third quarter didn't look any different than the first half as the Mustang zone kept the Glads from penetrating. Cox took up where he left off by tossing in 10 markers on four-of-six shots with Wetzel adding his final five points.

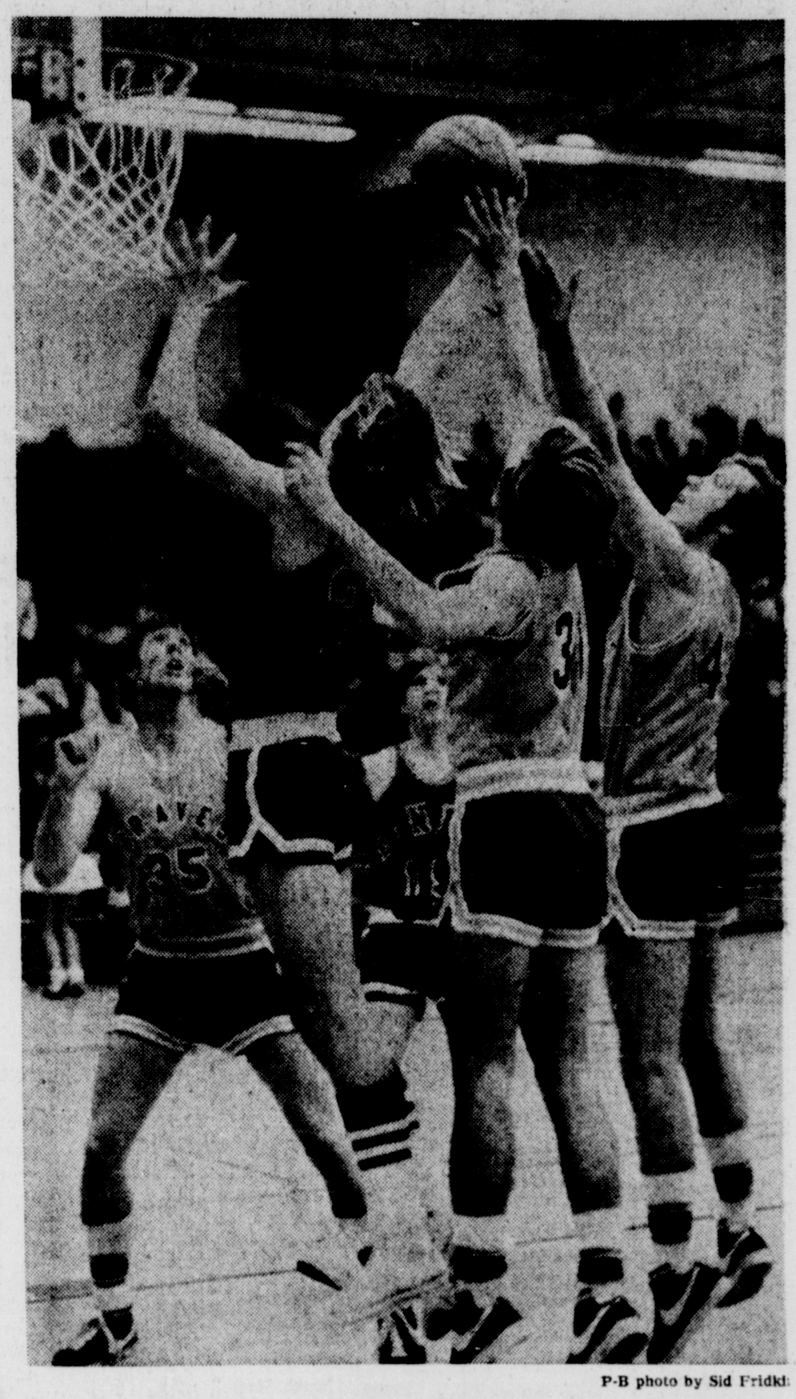

The fourth period was wide open basketball as the two teams emptied their benches and combined for 53 points.

Cox sank 10 consecutive free throws, Scott Stowell came off the bench and added six markers and "Archie" (Cliff) Manning tallied seven of his nine points and blocked two shots while grabbing four caroms. Manning sat out most of the first half after collecting three first period personals. Ken Czarnecki had an off day, hitting just 3-of-16 and winding up with seven points.

Gladstone's only bright spot was the play of reserve guard Dave Sanchez who scored 18 points, 12 in the second half.

Walnut returns to Hacienda action Friday night by hosting Alta Loma, a 45-42 winner over Bonita, while Gladstone (3-6) hosts Sierra Vista.

Alta Loma stops Bonita in opener

By TIM CLARK
P-B Correspondent

Andy Armstrong calmly sank two free throws with 21 seconds remaining in the game to clinch a victory for Alta Loma over host Bonita, 45-42, Wednesday afternoon in the Hacienda League opener for both teams.

Trailing by six (29-23) at the half the Braves took advantage of poor sho selection and defensive miscues on th part of Bonita, and scratched ahead b four points, 34-30.

With 2:42 remaining in the third pe riod, Alta Loma went into a stall whic it kept for the remainder of the game.

Both clubs traded buckets (Bonita' on defensive steals by Harold (H.P.) Drake and Dave Drury, Alta Loma' coming on a layin by Armstrong) t wind up the quarter with the tall reading 36-34 in favor of the Braves.

The Braves controlled the fourt quarter tip and played catch with on another until the 2:37 mark, whe Armstrong scored on another layup.

For the next two minutes, it was th H.P. and Andy show. Drake, the high scoring star of Bonita, finally got un tracked and popped in three straigh field goals. Armstrong countered wit two buckets of his own to set the stag for his free throw heroics.

With 21 seconds left; and with Alt Loma leading 42-40, and also holdin the ball, the Bearcats had to give foul. Unfortunately for the Cats Armstrong was the recipient.

Roger Gubichuck made good on on charity shot, the result of a despera tion foul by Bonita with six second left, for the final score of 45-42.

"We went to the stall because we fel that it was the only thing that we coul do", explained Brave mentor Jef McCall. "We hadn't shot worth a dim in the second quarter (four tota points) and we just got progressively worse in the third.

"We were lucky enough to be leadin by four, and we couldn't continue play ing that way. Bonita was in a zone, s we felt that we had to get them out o it before going back to our regular of fense.

, We also knew that H.P. would ge hot sooner or later. Well, he did, bu they (Bonita) stayed in the zone, so we stayed in the stall, and it saved us."

Alta Loma led after one stanza 19-16 largely due on the play of Tom Erbs tosser. Erbstosser hit for eight mar kers and hauled down five of his game high 11 rebounds.

The Braves then suffered their hor rible second period. After an errorless first stanza, the visitors commited nin turnovers, helping the Bearcats t their six point halftime advantage.

Both clubs shot reasonably well fro the floor as Alta Loma hit 44 per cen of its shots while Bonita hit 41 pe cent.

Don Klosterman talks to Tampa

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Hugh Culverhouse, owner of the newly-franchised Tampa entry in the National Football League, said Wednesday he had received permission from the Los Angeles Rams to talk to Don Klosterman about taking a job with the Tampa team.

Culverhouse said preliminary conversations had been held in Los Angeles and that he had talked by telephone with Klosterman who is in Mobile this week for the Senior Bowl.

"In that conversation, we set up a meeting next week," Culverhouse said. "At that time we will talk more fully. We are meeting to explore all possibilities. It is purely preliminary and exploratory."

The Tampa entry is to begin play in the NFL in 1976 and as yet has no officials other than Culverhouse.

Mounties rebound for 15th win

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

Gene Victor was smiling again Wednesday night.

The Mt. San Antonio College head basketball coach had just skippered his Mounties to their 15th victory of the season against visiting Los Angeles Valley College, 94-86.

"I'm happy when we win," grinned the Mountie mentor. "I'm always happy when we win."

Victor was bearing that grin all through December, and the dawning of the new year hasn't changed it much.

After opening 1975 with a 102-81 loss to Pasadena last Saturday, Victor's Mounties bounced right back and convincingly toppled L.A. Valley.

The scoore may not show it but MSAC was in complete control throughout the 40 minutes.

After running to a quick seven-point lead, 11-8 early in the contest, the Mounties' cushion fluctuated between five and 11 points going into the last three and a half minutes of the half.

Then, capitalizing on five MSAC turnovers, L.A. Valley got to within one point, 33-31, with 3:15 showing on the clock.

MSAC, shooting at a 59.3 per cent rate from the field in the first half, went into the locker room at intermission ahead 45-40.

Again the Mountaineers went on a scoring spurt, pumping in the first six points of the second half to grab a 51-40 advantage.

On the strength of three George Schader and two Gary Melugin field goals to open the half, MSAC blasted to a 55-42 lead. But then again, L.A. Valley whittled the margin to five, 59-54, before the Mounties finally put the game out of reach.

The hosts pushed their lead to 13 twice, and didn't allow the Monarchs to get any closer than six points in the final seven minutes of action.

The two Mountie standouts in the game were Schader and reserve forward Tom Pokorski.

Schader, a graduate from Covina High and a transfer from the University of Nevada at Las Vegas, got into foul trouble early in the game but still muscled in 23 points and grabbed five rebounds.

Pokorski, a Northview High graduate who is also a pitcher in the Boston Red Sox organization, came off the bench and had a perfect night. The 6-foot-7 freshman hit all nine of his field goal attempts (eight in the first half) and connected on both of his charity tosses.

Broncos erupt, 107-78

By GRAHAM CROW
P-B Corespondent

THOUSAND OAKS — After surprising Cal State Los Angeles Friday night, Cal Poly's Don Hogan feared a mental letdown might take place when his Bronco basketball team tangled with NAIA also-ran Cal Lutheran Wednesday.

Well, any gray hairs he accumulated while fretting were entirely unnecessary.

Cal Poly, with all 12 players together for the first time this season, outran, outshot, outhustled and thoroughly outclassed the host Kingsmen inrolling to an easy 107-78 victory.

It marked the second straight win for CVAL Poly following four losses inDecember of 1974. And the winning total was the most potent offensive display by a Cal Poly team since December of 1970 when the Broncos ripped Cal Poly SLO 110-98 in a tournament at UC Irvine.

Wednesday's romp served as a fine tune-up for California Collegiate Athletic Association play which begins Friday when Cal State Bakersfield will visit Kellogg Gym. That game will also be the first home this season for Poly.

What Hogan found out was that he won't have any second guesses about subsituting. The quality of play did not deteriorate noticeably although the starting five played less than half the game.

"We actually don't have a starting five," said Hogan afterwards. "As you saw tonight, we have a solid 12 man team with everyone playing a vital role."

All 12 did play a lot against Cal Lutheran and each contributed greatly in some manner. Paul Newton led the torrid fast breaking offense in the first half with 15 points and wound up with 21 and eight rebounds for the game. Cal State L.A. hero Denny Weisse added 11 of the bench while Joe Sills, Dick Gross and Ken Clark all hit for 10.

While David Kennedy was the low scorer with just four points, hemight have matured into a quality floor leader during the game. running the attack well when called upon, Kennedy excelled on defense with nine steals. Levi Williams, "The Rejector" also had a fine night with five blocked shots.

Poly enjoyed big edge on the boards, 57-38. Bill Cantwell had 10 for the game while Bill Bunker pulled in eight in the second half. The biggest diference between this and the previous Poly games was the shooting percentages as the Broncos hit at a 52.1 per cent clip. They had been going at 40 per cent.

The two game winning streak and the undefeated 1975 record will be tested Friday as the Broncos play their first of four games over a five day span.

The importance of that game? Hogan put it simply in saying, "If we win that first one, I know we'll be in first place in the league."

'Hens fall to Whittier

Pomona-Pitzer pulled to within one-point with five minutes gone in the second half Wednesday night, but that's as close as the Sagehens would get in a 65-55 loss to Whittier in a Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference contest.

The 'Hens shot only 27 per cent from the field and Whittier hit at a 41 per cent clip. The Poets also had an edge in rebounding, 58-51, but Pomona's Geoff Northrup led both teams with 15 rebounds. Brandon Boyd pulled down 14 for the Sagehens.

Boyd and Northrup shared the scoring lead for Pomona with 17 apiece. Whittier's Jim Preston was high with 19 points.

Whittier took a 40-29 lead at intermission and was in command most of the way thereafter except for the first five minutes of the second half whe nthe 'Hens rallied to slice the lead to one point.

Sun releases three stars

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Running backs James McAlister and Kermit Johnson and lineman Booker Brown were released from their WFL Southern California Sun contracts Wednesday, freeing them to sign with the NFL.

Sun president Larry Hatfield gave the players their unconditional releases and agreed the World Football League team would not fight their signing with the National Football League.

They were also given cash settlements.

Zone defenses prove tough as Leopards outlast Stags

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

With both teams putting up tight zone defenses, there didn't figure to be much scoring Wednesday night when Claremont-Mudd and La Verne battled on the basketball court.

And there wasn't.

La Verne shot over C-M's zone in the second half to take a 47-42 victory over the Stags in Wednesday's Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference contest at the Leos' Supertent.

"We wanted to slow the ball down to avoid turnovers and Claremont stayed with the tempo with its tight zone defense," La Verne coach Art Bias said in explaining the low score. "We probably could have run more but we decided to stay in our game plan."

Guards Dave Castanada and Jon Russ found the basket in the second half to help La Verne pull away from a narrow 21-20 lead. Castanada made nine of his game-high 15 points in the second half while Russ connected for six of his 10 points during the final 20 minutes.

"We're happy with this win" Bias said in talking about the victory which evens La Verne's season record at 6-6 and SCIAC mark at 1-1. "I am hoping we are on our way now. Claremont worked hard on the zone. I am happy we showed a lot of poise but unhappy about our passing."

Even with the slower tempo, La Verne was still charged with 16 turnovers but that was better than the 21 credited to Claremont.

La Verne enjoyed a big 38-28 rebounding edge with Tim Gillette grabbing 13 and Bill Rockwood 11. But the Leopards shot only 35.6 per cent while the Stags hit on 45.7 per cent.

Consecutive buckets by Castenada and Rockwood opened up the lead for La Verne in jumping ahead 37-30 with 8:09 left. The Stags were never able to cut the margin below four the rest of the way.

A spectacular behind the head basket by Gillette and a driving layup by Castenada in the final minutes wrapped up the victory.

Claremont also had to rely on its guards to shoot over the La Verne zone as Dan Dominguez and Bob Smith paced the St

Hacienda League opener

S.D. wins easily

By SCOTT POINDEXTER
P-B Correspondent

The San Dimas Saints opened up the Hacienda League with a romp over the Ontario Jaguars, 67-53, Wednesday afternoon.

The Saints used an impressive full court press to make the Jaguars cough up the ball 13 times, converting them into 21 points.

Leading the Saints charge was Bobby Childess, breaking out of a slump to pump in 20 points. Childress continually made fancy moves to get his foe out of position and go in to score. Steve Brahs added 18 points, mostly on jump shots from the baseline.

Dody Dunzweiler was a big San Dimas spark, coming off the bench in the second half to put in 11 of his 13 tallies.

Dan Pearce, Ontario's center, started the game out extremely slow but came on strong in the second half to be the high scorer in the game with 21 points. Roy Bornholdt was the only other Jaguar in double figures with 16—15 in the first half.

Bornholdt scored 11 of Ontario's first quarter 15 to give the Jaguars a 15-12 lead. A basket by Mickie Donaldson, to open the second period, gave Ontario its biggest lead it was to have. The Saints ripped off the next 12 points as the Jaguars were held scoreless for almost four minutes.

At one point in the drought, the Saints stole the ball four straight times, compliments of their press. On one of the steals, Brahs made an off-balance, behind the back shot that seemed to surprise Brahs more than anybody else.

By halftime, the Saints were out in front by four points, and Ontario was never able to get any closer. The Jaguars opened the second half almost exactly like they finished the first—cold. Pearce had 13 by the end of the half, and if it hadn't been for him, Ontario might not of stayed as close as seven.

Dunzweiler and Childress really opened the San Dimas lead in the final period with eight and six points respectively. Alan Hansen, the Saint's playmaker, spent 42 seconds dribbling on one play and then ended up scoring on an uncontested layup.

Brahs fouled out midway through the period and Pearce followed suit two minutes later to take away any chance of a Jaguar comeback.

A quick look at the free throw line gives another glimpse of why San Dimas was able to run away with the game; San Dimas, 11 of 15, Jaguars, 5 out of 16 for a terrible 31 per cent.

Charter Oak falls in wild Montview

Opening day in the Montview League was a day of upsets and extended contests.

Charter Oak High, the favorite to win the league championship after going through pre-league play with a 9-4 record, fell to Bassett in its opener, 55-47.

Nogales, rated as a contender for the title, dropped an overtime battle to Azusa, 58-57. And Rowland was forced to go two extra periods before bowing to Northview, 57-55.

In the other Montview League contest, Workman upset Baldwin Park, 74-55.

Over in the Hacienda League, Royal Oak remained winless for the year by losing its league opener to Sierra Vista, 58-54.

Charter Oak and Bassett exchanged the lead several times through most of the first half, but the Lancers didn't have the closing punch and trailed by five at the intermission, 27-22.

Both teams came out of the locker room and again displayed another see-saw affair before the Olympians pulled it out in the closing four minutes.

Guard Roosevelt Morris led Charter Oak in scoring with 16 points, while forward Mike Moses added 12.

Azusa's Richard Nyden, who came off the bench to score 13 points, recorded what turned out to be the winning bucket of the game with 40 seconds left.

That gave the Aztecs a 58-55 lead, and Noble guard Angel Rosado closed the gap to one point with 20 seconds still showing. Nogales had the ball with six seconds left in the contest, but failed to score on three successive field goal tries and the game came to an end.

Rosado finished the game with 19 points, while center Napolean Sparks added 13 and forward Jim Bailey contributed 12.

Rowland lost its double-overtime encounter in almost the same manner.

The Raiders saw John Yelon dump in what turned out to be the winning basket for Northview with 18 seconds left in the game. However, Rowland got the ball back in hopes of getting the last shot at tying the game once again. But Raider guard Ron Goldman missed a layup with four seconds showing.

Center Steve Nichols potted 19 points and guard Dave Warner added 17 for Rowland, while Northview center Bill Warren won the game scoring honors with his 22 markers.

Royal Oak led, 30-27, at halftime against Sierra Vista, but the Dons rallied to pull off the win. Roman forward Scott Woodland was the leading scorer in the game with 20 points.

Owls fall by four

CHULA VISTA — Citrus College played catch-up nearly all the way Wednesday night against Southwestern and came up four points shy, 82-78, in a Mission Conference basketball game.

Southwestern canned 20 of 28 shots from the field in the first half to take a nine-point lead at intermission. The Owls outscored the hosts 40-35 in the second half.

Paul Walls' 24 points paced Citrus and Mike Leidiky's 29 points was high for Southwestern and both teams.

It was only the southwestern team's third victory in 15 games this season. The win evened its record at 1-1 in conference play, however. Citrus is 7-8 overall and 1-1 also going into Saturday's conference contests.

The Owls host first place Saddleback Saturday at 8 p.m. The Mission Viejo team beat San Bernardino, 85-75, for its second conference victory in a row Wednesday. Riverside opened its Mission Conference campaign with a 92-73 decision over San Diego and Palomar stopped Grossmont, 89-70, in other conference encounters Wednesday.

MSAC tops L.A. Valley

MSAC shot 56.5 per cent from the floor (35 of 62) and 70.6 per cent from the free throw line (24 of 34).

L.A. Valley wasn't quite that consistent. The Monarchs only shot 47.1 per cent (33 of 70) and 80 per cent from the line (20 of 25).

Mountie center Duaine Harding didn't see much action during the game, fouling out with 13:56 remaining after collecting only five points against L.A. Valley (now 3-13 for the year).

Mt. AC will now enter South Coast Conference Saturday against Fullerton, a team which defeated Pasadena Tuesday night, 72-71. The Hornets are now 7-8 for the season. The game will be played in the Mountie gym beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Victor is just hoping he can keep that smile on his face for at least two more months.

Lakers continue to dominate 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Gail Goodrich scored 24 of his 34 points in the second half Wednesday night as the Los Angeles Lakers continued their mastery over the Philadelphia 76ers with a 106-98 National Basketball Association win.

Los Angeles has now beaten Philadelphia 15 straight times since last losing to the Sixers Feb. 19, 1971 at Los Angeles. The Lakers have won 11 straight games at the Spectrum, last losing on that court Dec. 9, 1969.

The game was tied at 90-90 when Philadelphia's Doug Collins scored a basket with 5:42 remaining. The Lakers then spurted for eight straight points and a 98-90 lead with 3:06 left.

Los Angeles moved in front 102-92 with 1:55 remaining and Philadelphia never seriously threatened the rest of the way.

Goodrich had 16 of his points in the third period which ended with Los Angeles in front 82-80.

Fred Carter led the Sixers with 26 points while Steve Mix added 21 points and also pulled down 24 rebounds. Billy Cunningham had 17 points and Collins 16 for the losers.

Philadelphia led 29-27 at the end of the first quarter and held a 54-51 advantage at halftime.

Los Angeles played without head coach Bill Sharman, who is testifying in a law suit at Utah. Pat Riley, Connie Hawkins and Happy Hairston were all benched because of injuries.

Campanis earns special honor

LOS ANGELES — Los Angeles Dodger Vice President Al Campanis will be the featured speaker and will receive a special award on Jan. 25 at the 10th annual dinner of the New York Pro Baseball Hot Stove League. The dinner will be held at Shea Stadium.

LV Lutheran's wrestlers lose

La Verne Lutheran High's wrestling team opened the season with a 60-18 loss to Aquinas Wednesday afternoon.

Not only was it the season opener for the Trojans, but it was also the Arrowhead League opener for both clubs.

Sports news in brief

ATLANTA (UPI) — Marion Campbell, who took over as field boss of the Atlanta Falcons at midseason after head coach Norm Van Brocklin was fired, today was retained by Falcon owner Rankin Smith to coach the Falcons next year.

Campbell, a soft-spoken defensive specialist who played college football at the University of Georgia, is well-liked by his players who had been outspoken in voicing their hope he would be returned.

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — J. Dennis Fitzgerald, defensive coordinator of the Kent State University football team, today was named head coach to succeed Don James who resigned to become head coach at the University of Washington.

Fitzgerald, 38, a native of Ann Arbor, Mich., was a football and wrestling standout at the University of Michigan and also served on the Wolverine's coaching staff.

He left Michigan to join the coaching staff at the University of Kentucky and was recruited by James four years ago.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Pitcher Don Wilson of the Houston Astros and his 5-year-old son will be buried here today following funeral services at Faithful Central Missionary Baptist Church in south Los Angeles.

Wilson and his son, Alexander, died of carbon monoxide poisoning at their home in Houston Sunday. Wilson lived here while attending Compton College before joining the Astros.

ATLANTA (UPI) — Jim Washington, a 10-year veteran of the National Basketball Association, was traded to the Buffalo Braves by the Atlanta and future considerations.

Washington, 31, averaged seven points and five rebounds in 38 National Basketball Association games this season. Prior to this season, his career averages were 11.3 points and nine rebounds.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — No. 1 seeded Chris Evert beat Sue Stap 6-3, 6-0 Wednesday night in a quarterfinal match of the $75,000 Virginia Slims tennis tournament.

In another quarterfinal match, Martina Navratilova of Czechoslavakia beat Nancy Gunter, San Antonio, Tex., 6-3, 6-2.

Evert must now meet Navratilova in what amounts to a rematch of last year, when Evert beat the Czech player 6-7, 6-3, 6-1 in the same tournament.

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Fullback Mark Bailey has not enrolled for the current quarter at the University of California and reportedly does not plan to return to Berkeley.

Bailey, a 210-pound high school All America, played third running back behind Chuck Muncie and Howard Strickland during the past two seasons, but figured to join Muncie in the starting running back slots next fall.

Lugo grapplers still unbeaten

Two Don Lugo High wrestlers remained unbeaten for the season Wednesday in a 57-10 win over Fontana.

Jerry Marez (105) and Benny Alaniz (122) ran their records to 9-0 in the victory, while Randy Roberts (157) scored his eighth consecutive pin. Roberts' record is 8-1.

Jerry Buchholz holds early lead

By GRAHAM CROW
P-B Correspondent

ARCADIA — San Jose's Jerry Buchholz, looking for his first professional title, is leading the $60,000 Greater Los Angeles Pro Bowling Open after Wednesday's 12 games of qualifying but don't blame him if he looks warily over his left shoulder.

Buchholz's total for the dozen games is 2722, just shy of a 227 average, but right on his heels are two fine southpaws. Earl Anthony, a lock for 1974 Bowler of the Year honors, has 2716 with San Francisco's Bob Hood at 2709.

Greg Baderdeen, Ontario, is the highest local with six game blocks of 1338 and 1179 for 2517. Baderdeen was eighth after the first six games and included a 288 game in his efforts.

Tye Critchlow, Claremont, rebounded from a poor start to combine blocks of 1199 and 1288 for a 2587 total. Bob Fenton, Upland, had trouble all day with scores of 1196 and 1159 for 2355.

The qualifying wound up with six more games this morning. The field was then pared to the leading 24 bowling who bowl the head-to-head finals tonight and Friday, all shooting for the $7,000 first place prize after the TV finals Saturday.
